Korean POWs Are Given Freedom

Included Are 21 Americans Who Chose to Side With Reds

Panmunjom, Saturday, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Korean war prisoners who stirred world wide controversy by their refusal to go home were turned loose today.

Twenty-one Americans, 1 Briton and 327 South Koreans who chose communism were abandoned by Indian guards in a flimsy neutral zone compound at 12:01 a. m.

The pro-Red POWs said they would stay until their food runs out, echoing the demand of the Communist command that Indian troops stay on.

The U. N. command liberated as civilians the nearly 22,000 anti-Red captives returned to it Wednesday by the Indian command—a course the allies assert was required by the armistice.

When official freedom came, more than 14,000 Chinese, anti-Red POWs already were aboard American ships en route to Chinese Nationalist Formosa, more than 7,500 anti-Communist North Koreans were in South Korean Army reception centers.

'Absolutely Quiet'
An Indian officer said the pro-Communist north camp was "absolutely quiet." There was no celebration among the Koreans. A ROK official said most were asleep.

Robe Draws 2,000 To B'way Theatre

May Run Longer Than Week if Demand Is Sufficient

The Robe drew a record attendance at Reade's Broadway Theatre, Thursday, it was announced from the New York office of Walter Reade, Jr., who said there is a possibility of continuing the CinemaScope film more than a week if the demand of moviegoers calls for it.

"We proudly present The Robe in Kingston," Reade said, "in accordance with our policy of giving area patrons of our theatres the top film fare of the day."

Reade has three movie houses here. The Broadway, Kingston Theatre and 9W Drive-in, which operates during the summer season.

Yesterday, more than 2,000 saw The Robe with its authentic sound effects that brought realism to the various situations in what Reade called "the greatest story of love and faith ever brought to the screen."

Opposition Hits Plea on Tax Slashes

Democrats Plan Fight to Slice Billions Off Personal Income Rate—Other Reductions

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower's plea to Congress to hold the line against any further cuts in major tax rates smacked into strong opposition today.

Several key Democrats planned a floor fight in the almost evenly divided House for a plan to slice 2½ billion dollars a year off personal income taxes, relieving seven million taxpayers from any payment at all.

And some Republicans and Democrats alike predicted Congress would permit at least slight reductions in both corporation income and excise tax rates.

Eisenhower, in his annual budget message yesterday, strongly endorsed a project for rewriting almost all the nation's tax laws. His proposals would reduce revenue two billion dollars annually when they reach full effect, but this would be done through many changes in various deductions, allowances and other technical points—not through major rate changes.

Program Applauded
Republicans generally applauded this program, but Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the assistant Democratic leader, accused the President of "political insincerity."

"Instead of appealing to the people to make sacrifices for greater national defense," McCormack said, "the President is appealing to their hopes for tax reductions."

"But apparently the only ones being considered in the President's program are corporations and large stockholders. If President Eisenhower thinks we can have tax reductions, the people generally should benefit."

Eisenhower said the program he proposed, in its first year, would relieve individuals of $85 million dollars in taxes and corporations of $30 million.

Urges Cancellation
McCormack added his "present inclination" is not to vote to extend present rates on corporations and excises. Eisenhower urged Congress to cancel three billion dollars in cuts in these fields now set automatically for April 1, and to prevent losses in revenue from other taxes not involved in the April 1 changes.

Rep. Kean (R.-N.J.), fourth-ranking Ways and Means Committee Republican and usually an administration supporter, predicted there would be "at least slight reductions in corporation income taxes and considerable reductions in some of the higher excises."

Rep. Jenkins (R.-Ohio), second-ranking GOP committee member, said in a separate interview "I think we'll cut corporation taxes some and I think we'll cut excises."

The corporate income tax rate, now 52 per cent, is due to drop to 47 per cent on April 1 unless Congress changes the law.

Sen. George (D.-Ga.), senior Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, and others have suggested a 50 per cent rate, which would reduce revenue by almost a billion dollars annually.

The Ways and Means Committee, taking up the tax revision program section-by-section, yesterday agreed on more liberal provisions for dependents which experts said would save taxpayers 100 millions a year.

Will Manage Newburgh
Stoughton, Mass., Jan. 22 (AP)—Town Manager Donald H. Blatt, 32, today announced his resignation, effective Feb. 5, to become city manager at Newburgh, N. Y. Blatt has been town manager here for four years after holding a similar post at Calais, Maine.

Bid Made for Law to Halt Divorce, Annuity Rackets

Albany, Jan. 22 (AP)—A Republican and a Democrat in the Legislature are teamed up in a bid for new laws aimed at saving marriages and stamping out divorce or annuities rackets.

Democratic Sen. Francis J. Mahoney of Manhattan, Senate minority leader, and GOP Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson of Yonkers yesterday introduced five bills and a proposed constitutional amendment in an effort to tighten the state's matrimonial laws.

They proposed court conciliation efforts in all divorce and annuities actions and strict rules to govern the grounds and proof in the suits themselves.

In the preamble to one bill, Mahoney and Wilson said:

"There has been a growing practice on the part of married persons in this state to subvert the laws of this state by collusion, fraud and perjurious testimony in actions for divorce or annulments of marriages."

Eisenhower Budget Faces Disapproval of Both Parties

Bond Issue Suggested To Pay for Route Plan

Department Shows 780 Arrests Made In '53; 3 Killed

Death Toll Is One Less Than in '52—202 Persons Hurt in Accidents

Kingston's police department made 780 arrests in 1953 and the city had 154 traffic mishaps in which three persons were killed and 202 injured, Police Chief Raymond VanBuren noted in the 62nd annual report yesterday to the Board of Police Commissioners.

The accident death toll was one less than in 1952 when the city had 143 mishaps in which 199 were injured. The city had no fatal accidents in 1951 when 136 mishaps were reported and 198 were injured.

Of the arrests, 37 were female and 743 male and the list of serious charges was light. Public intoxication led as the cause for the greatest number of arrests with 311 listed. Violations of vehicle and traffic laws were next with 112 listed, and disorderly conduct third with 92.

Assault Arrests Made
The department made 50 arrests for third degree assault, six for assault, second degree, and one for first degree assault.

Seven arrests were made for burglary, third degree, seven arrests for first degree grand larceny, and four for grand larceny second.

The report noted that 81 children under the age of 16 were questioned for "various crimes and offenses," and of these 26 were taken into children's court. Second offenders have been sent to a school of industry. Only eight were actually held on juvenile delinquency charges.

Other arrests listed were 78 for violations of the city traffic code, 15 for driving while intoxicated, five for malicious mischief, two common gambler charges, two for bookmaking, four for second degree forgery, seven for petit larceny, and three on similar charges involving checks.

Of the 780 arrested 203 were committed to jail, 109 were fined, 184 given suspended sentences, 67 discharged, 20 cases were withdrawn, 68 forfeited bail. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Broadway Traffic Increases Since Opening of Thruway

Broadway is getting more traffic since the opening of the Kingston-Catskill section of the New York State Thruway than Washington avenue, as was originally planned, members of the Board of Public Works decided yesterday and they voted to move one Washington avenue traffic light.

The board agreed that the traffic flow on Broadway had increased noticeably while Washington avenue was attracting less than expected, and on suggestion of Commissioner Joseph E. Honig, the board voted to move the light at Washington and Linderman avenues to Broadway and Foxhall avenue.

It was also agreed that the light at Washington avenue and the Boulevard should operate as a blinker. Both proposals are to be forwarded as recommendations to the traffic control committee of the Common Council and the police chief.

The board also voted to buy 12 new traffic light control units and one traffic light timer to be used as a spare at an estimated cost of $2,940. It also awarded to Island Dock Inc., a contract to replace a damaged section of bulkhead for 160 feet along Dock street, and conducted the annual meeting in which officers were elected and committees appointed. The estimate on the Dock street project was $11,617.

Commissioner Honig said he failed to see the reason for the traffic light at Washington and Linderman avenues, and he proposed that it be moved to Broadway and Foxhall avenue.

Other commissioners noted a traffic increase on Broadway and Honig observed that at times it was impossible to get out of Foxhall avenue into Broadway. It

Mayor Stang Says Tax Rate Would Be Dollar More; Assessment Loss Cited

The city's share in the cost of the proposed arterial route plan could be financed by a 10-year bond issue with a resultant increase in the tax rate of "just under $1" per thousand, based upon present assessments, Mayor Frederick H. Stang revealed on Thursday.

In a question period which followed his talk to members of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel, the mayor also pointed out that present estimates are that adoption of the plan would mean a loss of approximately $106,000 from the city's assessment rolls.

Contained in Proposal
That estimate, he said in reply to a question about rumors that "as much as $500,000 assessed valuation may be lost to the city," was contained in the proposal and based upon the state engineers' plans for acquiring the needed property for construction of the arterial routes.

Mayor Stang had previously stressed in his prepared talk that all these figures are tentative and subject to the working out of details before final approval. At the present time, he emphasized, all the city is asked to do is approve the plan generally, and that details will be submitted to the Common Council for approval later. General approval of the plan now does not obligate the city to acceptance of any of its details later, he said.

10-Year Bond Issue
On the subject of financing the city's share of the cost, Mayor Stang said city officials had tentatively figured that this could be done by a 10-year bond issue. The first year's cost, including payment on principal and interest, would approximate $31,000, he said. The amount would decrease in subsequent years as the principal was reduced and interest, therefore, would decrease.

Other financial considerations brought up by Stang included the fact that if the city approves putting the 5.2 miles of streets involved on the state highway network—and this is then done by action of the legislature—the state will assume control and partial maintenance of those streets.

The state's contribution toward maintenance would "approximate $6,700 a year," he said, in addition to part of the cost of snow removal.

Will Assume Burden
The state will also assume the "full burden of reconstruction" when it becomes necessary, he added. The present cost of reconstruction of a street averages about $80,000 a mile, he pointed out. At present the city must assume full responsibility for maintenance and reconstruction.

Mayor Stang asked for careful consideration at this time of the question of whether or not the city should approve the plan generally and have the 5.2 miles of streets placed on the state map. The details, he stressed, can be worked out separately later.

As an example of decisions that can be postponed until later, the mayor mentioned the proposed changes at the Rondout Creek bridge approach. "If something is planned there which the people of downtown Kingston do not want," he said, "I would be the first, as (Continued on Page 13, Col. 3)

Others Are Elected
In addition to Eyles being elected president, the group also elected the following: William O'Reilly, vice-president; Edwin Ford, secretary; William Mulhern, treasurer; and Anthony Saccoman, Michael Arace, Frank Roe and Theodore Gile, Sr., as directors.

The Downtown Business Men's Association is scheduled to meet next Wednesday at 8 p. m., in the Recreation Center to discuss the proposal and the Uptown Business Men expect to meet for airing of the plan within 10 days.

Deficit Is Estimated
Eisenhower estimated a year-end deficit next June 30 of $3,300,000.

Douglas said the Treasury Department reported a deficit earlier this month of $8,822,000, and added: "They now say they are going to pull that figure down to $3,300,000 in the next 5½ months."

"High corporation profits in 1953 are a major factor in reducing the size of the prospective deficit," Douglas said in an interview. "Nevertheless, this estimate is 'nevertheless' optimistic. It is simply incredible that they can cut the deficit down by 6½ billion dollars in less than six months."

Word was that the administration would delay pressing the President's renewed request that the legal limit on the debt be boosted to the present $275 billion. The House last year voted to hike the ceiling to 290 billions, but the Senate failed to act. There is still strong opposition there. The House measure, however, could be revived by the Senate at any time without further House action.

Will Get Hearing
Poughkeepsie, Jan. 22 (AP)—Two city detectives, Robert Schuyler and Jack Brophy, will receive a hearing before the police trial board tomorrow on charges of neglect of duty. Acting Police Chief Harvey Boyd filed the charges yesterday with City Manager Hayden Johnson in connection with the current investigation of the police department. If the detectives are found guilty, they could be ousted, suspended or demoted. The charges grew out of recent Dutchess County Court trial testimony concerning an arrest made by Schuyler and Brophy.

Perkins Named To Health Post

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower, today nominated Roswell B. Perkins, 27-year-old New York attorney, to be assistant secretary of health, education and welfare. The post pays $15,000 a year.

Perkins, a Republican, is the youngest man to be appointed by Eisenhower to the government.

However, he is not the youngest chosen for a sub-cabinet post in previous administrations. The White House said President Cleveland named a 25-year-old, John B. Moore, as assistant secretary of state.

As a result of a civil action involving an alleged taking of a team of horses from the stable of Lewis Hallenbeck at Woodland Valley, the Ulster county grand jury may be asked to investigate the matter in what would become Ulster county's first horse theft case in many years.

Hallenbeck, Phoenicia lumberman, in Supreme court sought to recover the money value of the team as well as receive payment for a second team which was sold to Albert Broas of Poughkeepsie back in March 1951. Judgment was directed by Justice Elsworth in the civil action and at the conclusion of the civil action Major H. Edgar Timmerman, attorney for Hallenbeck, asked the court to have the matter referred to the grand jury on the grounds it is (Continued on Page 13, Col. 3)

Central Business Votes in Favor of Arterial Route Plan

The Central Business Men's Association voted unanimously Thursday in favor of the state-proposed arterial route plan for the city of Kingston.

Irving L. Eyles, who was elected as new president of the group, made the announcement today and added that a copy of the resolution passed last night will be forwarded to the Common Council.

Fourteen representatives of the central business houses attended yesterday's meeting.

Others Are Elected
In addition to Eyles being elected president, the group also elected the following: William O'Reilly, vice-president; Edwin Ford, secretary; William Mulhern, treasurer; and Anthony Saccoman, Michael Arace, Frank Roe and Theodore Gile, Sr., as directors.

Bigger Year Is in Prospect For Hotel, Stockholders Told

Prospects for a bigger year ahead were predicted for the Governor Clinton Hotel by Arthur H. Wicks, president of the Kingston Community Hotel, at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the corporation held Thursday evening. The coming of IBM to Kingston, completion of the New York State Thruway which will run within view of the hotel, he said were bound to bring additional business to Kingston and the hotel would profit.

Re-elected as directors were A. H. Wicks, Peter A. Black, W. A. Carl, A. J. Burns, N. J. Fowler, Stuart E. Hockenbury, R. R. Gross, Stanley J. Matthews and T. A. Dandrew. Fred W. Ahlers and Alfred D. Ronder acted as inspectors of election in the absence of Messrs. Powley and Gates who were ill.

In his report to the stockholders, R. R. Gross, manager, said he would shortly ask the directors to have a large three sided electric sign erected on the roof of the hotel which would be viewed from Broadway and Albany avenue, from the proposed Thruway interchange leading into Kingston and also from the Thruway itself. This would attract passers-by from a long distance.

It was also announced that the 30-year contract with American Hotels Corporation had expired but that a five-year contract had been signed under which the local hotel will retain the advantages of advice, purchasing power and other benefits but that the actual management of the hotel would become solely local. N. Jansen Fowler, secretary-treasurer, said the American Hotels Corporation would have no active part in the management and the hotel would become purely a "community hotel" in all respects, however, (Continued on Page 13, Col. 4)

Taber Says Spending Is 'Too Much'

Rayburn Declares Slash in Security Funds Is Risky—Unhappiness Felt Over Deficit

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Portions of President Eisenhower's unbalanced 65½-billion-dollar spending budget for the next fiscal year today appeared to face some stiff bipartisan congressional trouble.

"Too much," said Chairman Taber (R.-N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee.

Rather risky, commented House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas referring to a cut in planned national security spending. Many congressmen however, praised the emphasis on air power and new weapons.

Some Republicans and Democrats joined in commenting that the President's stand against cuts in corporation and excise tax rates was likely to face severe fire from a Congress anxious to cut taxes in a year when many members face re-election campaigns.

Plans Are Criticized
There was some criticism of plans for continued heavy foreign aid spending and, from a few Democrats, of proposed cutbacks in army and navy manpower.

And there was bipartisan unhappiness over the fact that the budget projects a federal deficit through the 1955 fiscal year start-up.

The reduced spending estimates came in for general praise, although there was some criticism of specific cuts.

The bulky document picturing the government's financial plans for the next year, headed for the House Appropriations Committee, the first step toward congressional approval or revision.

Trim Is Forecast
Taber, who always has insisted "there never was a budget that couldn't be cut," said his committee ought to be able to trim at least three billion dollars from the 56½ billions in new appropriations requested for the coming year.

That, Taber told newsmen, might "get rid of the deficit," which the President estimated would be $2,928,000,000 for the year ending in mid-1955.

Told that Budget Director Joseph H. Dodge, the President's chief fiscal aide, had said such a cut would have to be made "at the expense of essential activities of the government," Taber replied: "The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

Sen. Douglas (D.-Ill.) meanwhile predicted a federal deficit of at least five billion dollars for the current fiscal year and chided the administration for an "altogether too optimistic" estimate.

Deficit Is Estimated
Eisenhower estimated a year-end deficit next June 30 of $3,300,000.

Douglas said the Treasury Department reported a deficit earlier this month of $8,822,000, and added: "They now say they are going to pull that figure down to $3,300,000 in the next 5½ months."

Limit the claim of fraud as a basis for annulment to matters "essential to the marriage relationship."

Require the complainant in an uncontested divorce or annulment action to submit "clear and convincing proof" instead of merely "proof" of allegations.

Revise the statute of limitations in annulment actions based on fraud by figuring the time for starting actions from the discovery of a fraud rather than from the commission of a fraud.

Broadway Traffic Increases Since Opening of Thruway

Broadway is getting more traffic since the opening of the Kingston-Catskill section of the New York State Thruway than Washington avenue, as was originally planned, members of the Board of Public Works decided yesterday.

The board agreed that the traffic flow on Broadway had increased noticeably while Washington avenue was attracting less than expected, and on suggestion of Commissioner Joseph E. Honig, the board voted to move the light at Washington and Landerman avenues to Broadway and Foxhall avenue.

Commissioner Honig said he failed to see the reason for the traffic light at Washington and Landerman avenues, and he proposed that it be moved to Broadway and Foxhall avenue.

Other commissioners noted a traffic increase on Broadway and Honig observed that at times it was impossible to get out of Foxhall avenue into Broadway. It was proposed that the light when installed be turned off daily at 10 p. m.

Ernest A. Stueding, public works superintendent said the light at Broadway and Foxhall avenue had been discontinued since 1944 and among reasons given at the time was that it caused a disturbance at Kingston Hospital because of the stopping and starting of heavy vehicles.

Commissioner Raymond L. Whitbeck said it was his recollection that the light had caused some congestion at the intersection of the thruway section.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang and Commissioner Kenneth Hyatt both said they noticed increased traffic on Broadway and comparatively little more on Washington avenue as a result of the opening of the thruway section.

The first year's cost, including payment on principal and interest, would approximate $31,000, he said. The amount would decrease in subsequent years as the principal was reduced and interest, therefore, would decrease.

Other financial considerations brought out by Stang included the fact that if the city approves putting the 5.2 miles of streets involved on the state highway map—and this is then done by action of the legislature—the state will assume control and partial maintenance of those streets.

The state's contribution toward maintenance would "approximate $6,700 a year," he said, in addition to part of the cost of snow removal.

Will Assume Burden
The state will also assume the "full burden of reconstruction" when it becomes necessary, he added. The present cost of reconstruction of a street averages about $80,000 a mile, he pointed out. At present the city must assume full responsibility for maintenance and reconstruction.

Mayor Stang asked for careful consideration at this time of the question of whether or not the city should approve the plan generally and have the 5.2 miles of streets placed on the state map. The details, he stressed, can be worked out separately later.

As an example of decisions that can be postponed until later, the mayor mentioned the proposed changes at the Rondout Creek bridge approach. "If something is planned there which the people of downtown Kingston do not want," he said, "I would be the first, as

Prospects for a bigger year ahead were predicted for the Governor Clinton Hotel by Arthur H. Wicks, president of the Kingston Community Hotel, at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the corporation held Thursday evening.

The coming of IBM to Kingston, completion of the New York State Thruway which will run within view of the hotel, he said, would be bound to bring additional business to Kingston and the hotel would profit.

Re-elected as directors were A. H. Wicks, Peter A. Black, W. A. Carl, A. J. Burns, N. J. Fowler, Stuart E. Hockenbury, R. R. Gross, Stanley J. Matthews and T. A. Dandrew. Fred W. Ahlers and Alfred D. Ronder acted as inspectors of election in the absence of Messrs. Povey and Gates who were ill.

In his report to the stockholders, R. R. Gross, manager, said he would shortly ask the directors to have a large three sided electric sign erected on the roof of the hotel which would be viewed from Broadway and Albany avenue, from the proposed Thruway interchange leading into Kingston, and also from the Thruway itself. This would attract passersby from a long distance.

It was also announced that the 30-year contract with American Hotels Corporation had expired but that a five-year contract had been signed under which the local hotel will retain the advantages of advice, purchasing power and other benefits but that the actual management of the hotel would become solely local. N. Jansen Fowler, secretary-treasurer, said the American Hotels Corporation would have no active part in the management and the hotel would become purely a "community hotel" in all respects, however,

Perkins Named To Health Post

Washington, Jan. 22 (P)—President Eisenhower, today nominated Roswell B. Perkins, 27-year-old New York attorney, to be assistant secretary of health, education and welfare. The post pays $15,000 a year.

Perkins, a Republican, is the youngest man to be appointed by Eisenhower to the government.

However, he is not the youngest chosen for a sub-cabinet post in previous administrations. The White House said President Cleveland named a 25-year-old, John B. Moore, as assistant secretary of state.

Civil Action May Develop Into Case Of Horse Theft

Phoenicia Lumber Dealer Accuses Poughkeepsie Man of Removing Team From Barn

As a result of a civil action involving an alleged taking of a team of horses from the stable of Lewis Hallenbeck at Woodland Valley, the Ulster county grand jury may be asked to investigate the matter in what would become Ulster county's first horse theft case in many years.

Hallenbeck, Phoenicia lumberman, in Supreme court sought to recover the money value of the team as well as receive payment for a second team which was sold to Albert Broas of Poughkeepsie back in March 1951. Judgment was directed by Justice Elsworth in the civil action and at the conclusion of the civil action Major H. Edgar Timmerman, attorney for Hallenbeck, asked the court to have the matter referred to the grand jury on the grounds it ap-

Plans Are Criticized
There was some criticism of plans for continued heavy foreign aid spending and, from a few Democrats, of proposed cutbacks in army and navy manpower.

And there was bipartisan unhappiness over the fact that the budget projects a federal deficit through the 1955 fiscal year starting July 1.

The reduced spending estimates came in for general praise, although there was some criticism of specific cuts.

The bulky document picturing the government's financial plans for the new year headed for the House Appropriations Committee, the first step toward congressional approval or revision.

Trim Is Forecast
Taber, who always has insisted "there never was a budget that couldn't be cut," said his committee ought to be able to trim at least three billion dollars from the 56½ billions in new appropriations requested for the coming year.

That, Taber told newsmen, might "get rid of the deficit," which the President estimated would be $2,928,000,000 for the year ending in mid-1955.

Told Douglas (D-Ill.) meanwhile predicted a federal deficit of "at least five billion dollars" for the current fiscal year and chided the administration for an "altogether too optimistic" estimate.

Deficit Is Estimated
Eisenhower estimated a year-end deficit next June 30 of $3,300,000,000.

Douglas said the Treasury Department reported a deficit earlier this month of $9,822,000,000, and added: "They now say they are going to pull that figure down to $3,300,000,000 in the next 5½ months."

"High corporation profits in 1953 are a major factor in reducing the size of the prospective deficit," Douglas said in an interview. "Nevertheless, this estimate is much too optimistic. It is simply incredible that they can cut the deficit down by 6½ billion dollars in less than six months."

Word was that the administration would delay pressing the President's renewed request that the legal limit on the debt be boosted from the present 275 billions. The House last year voted to hike the ceiling to 290 billions, but the Senate failed to act. There is still strong opposition there.

The House measure, however, could be revived by the Senate at any time without further House action.

Will Get Hearing

Poughkeepsie, Jan. 22 (P)—Two city detectives, Robert Schuyler and Jack Brophy, will receive a hearing before the police trial board tomorrow on charges of neglect of duty. Acting Police Chief Harvey Boyd filed the charges yesterday with City Manager Hayden Johnson in connection with the current investigation of the police department. If the detectives are found guilty, they could be ousted, suspended or demoted. The charges grew out of recent Dutchess County Court testimony concerning an arrest made by Schuyler and Brophy.

Taber Says Spending Is 'Too Much'

Rayburn Declares Slash in Security Funds Is Risky—Unhappiness Felt Over Deficit

Washington, Jan. 22 (P)—Portions of President Eisenhower's unbalanced 65½-billion-dollar spending budget for the next fiscal year today appeared to face some stiff bipartisan congressional trouble.

"Too much," said Chairman Taber (R.-N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee.

Rather risky, commented House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas referring to a cut in planned national security spending. Many congressmen, however, praised the emphasis on air power and new weapons.

Some Republicans and Democrats joined in commenting that the President's stand against cuts in corporation and excise tax rates was likely to face severe fire from a Congress anxious to cut taxes in a year when many members face re-election campaigns.

Rodie Is Opposed To Arterial Plan as Possibly Damaging

Robert R. Rodie, of 83 Albany avenue, whose property would be directly affected by the state's arterial route plan for Kingston, in a letter to First Ward Alderman Hirschfeld Mayes, released to The Freeman today, said he opposes the plan not only for personal reasons but because of possible future damaging effects on the city.

The letter suggests that the full effect of thruway traffic on the city may better be determined after opening later this year of the section south of Kingston. A copy of the letter was forwarded to Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

The letter: January 21, 1954. Mr. Hirschfeld Mayes, Alderman, First Ward, City of Kingston, N. Y., 264 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir: I have read the Kingston Urban Area Report submitted under date of January 15, 1954 to Mayor Stang by Mr. B. D. Tallamy, Superintendent of Public Works for the State of New York. I am moved to oppose the plan for personal reasons, as I am sure other property owners in the area will be. The adoption of the plan will deprive me and my family of the home we have enjoyed for over 30 years. The dwelling and the improvements we have made in those years cannot be replaced to our satisfaction. Any monetary consideration we might receive for the property under the proposed plan would not compensate us for the loss of our home.

I also oppose the plan for other reasons. It has been urged by some that prompt action be taken to adopt the proposed plan and set up the necessary legislation to put it into effect. Mind precipitate action would be a mistake. While the state has submitted a very impressive array of statistics and graphs to support the plan, there is still doubt that such an elaborate project is needed, and also that the proposed site would be selected to make a commitment at this time for something that might not be needed would be a serious experience for Kingston.

Admittedly our streets are overburdened with traffic at the present time. Kingston is handling not only its local movement, but the north-south long distance through travel on the west side of the Hudson River. With the opening of the Thruway it is conceivable that this foreign traffic will disappear, leaving adequate facilities for our local area people. Also with the new bridge approach north of Kingston it would seem that the logical location of access to the Thruway would be north of the city. This would not only facilitate the easy flow of traffic from the east, but it would relieve Kingston of the cost of repairing wear and tear of streets caused by traffic producing no benefits to the city. It would also protect the interest of the property owners in the Albany avenue residential area, and lessen the cost of the local taxpayers' contribution to the cost of the arterial approach. Through traffic from the south would enter the Thruway at New Paltz.

We are on the verge of an opportunity to see (more clearly than we can at present) just what Kingston needs. The section of the Thruway south of Kingston will be open in 1954. When that occurs we will see at first hand what traffic problems need to be solved—if any. While the State engineers have the advantage of technical experience in formulating a traffic program, the taxpayers who live here for its construction should know first that a problem exists and then have sufficient time to digest the implications of the plan submitted for its solution.

Therefore I request that you place into the record my opposition to the acceptance of the State plan as referred to herein until we have an opportunity to see more clearly what is needed—after the opening of the south section of the Thruway this year. I also request your cooperation toward that end.

Very truly yours, ROBERT R. RODIE

Marine Deaths Total 29 Today

Inchon, Korea, Jan. 22 (AP)—The death toll of U. S. Marines in yesterday's collision of a troopship and a small landing craft was raised to 29 today. Authorities said official records showed the marine-laden landing craft carried 51 rather than 50 men. Twenty-two were rescued from the icy waters of Inchon harbor.

The collision occurred as the landing craft maneuvered to put marine guards aboard a tank landing ship carrying 1,000 Chinese war prisoners to Formosa.

Department Shows

17 cases went to the grand jury, and 52 cases are pending. The board elected Mayor Frederick H. Stang as its president, and Chief Van Buren as secretary or clerk to the board. The commission, Robert R. Lockie, William Singer, Robert S. Evely and James R. Murphy.

To Place New Radios
The chief's report noted that new radios will be placed in the patrol cars in the spring and that new office equipment is needed at headquarters because that in use today has been there for more than 40 years, and some chairs have been broken beyond repair.

Four new patrolmen from an eligibility list of seven are expected to be appointed next month. The department's regular numerical strength is 58 including the chief and specials. It has 36 patrolmen, four sergeants, three lieutenants, two detectives, two regular special policemen, five on school traffic patrol and five vacancies. The listed numerical strength as of last Dec. 31, due to vacancies, and not counting specials was 46.

The report noted that 11 men were appointed to the force in June, 1953, when the 10-hour week went into effect, and all the new men had 10 days of instruction by FBI men, local judges, members of the bar and the police department. Regular patrol cars, the report said, should be replaced annually to "save on repair bills, tires and new paint." The department has two motor cycles, one 1950 patrol car, two of 1952 model and two of 1953.

Promotions during the year, the chief said, were Sgt. William Messing to lieutenant, Officer Frank Sammons to detective, Officers Grover Hoffay and Charles Hoehing to sergeants.

Officers Resign
Those who resigned from the force during the year were Sgt. James Cullen and Officers Kenneth Stratton, Walter Fitzgerald, James Harbeck, Francis Loeffler, and George Loughran.

Of the 780 arrests made, the report notes that July led in monthly totals with 97 and August was next with 90. November and December were lowest with 41 and 43 respectively.

The report said "There are some traffic changes to be recommended to the traffic control committee, but these will wait until the thruway and the new arterial route have been decided."

The chief closed the report with thanks to the press and radio "and other organizations that have so willingly cooperated with the department in the past year."

The chief's report for December, 1953 showed 14 persons injured in 12 local traffic mishaps and 42 persons arrested. Of the latter 20 were for public intoxication, eight for disorderly conduct, five for third degree assault, two for malicious mischief and one each for assault second degree, grand larceny second, and petit larceny.

Cold Hits New York
New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—A Canadian-born cold wave pushed its way across the metropolitan area today, sending temperatures on a downhill toboggan toward the season's lowest readings. Behind the freeze remained the threat of snow. It might hit the city, the weather man said, it might just touch the city as it passed out to sea across New Jersey to the south—where it began snowing at 5 a. m.—or it might not even come close. So "tricky" was the situation, the forecaster wouldn't say when all this might happen. In New York the thermometer indicated 18 degrees at 9 a. m. (EST), a 38-degree drop in 24 hours. Then it climbed a little, but the prediction was for 10 degree or lower temperatures in the city and down to zero in the northern suburbs later on.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Railroads and aircrafts provided almost the sole prop under the stock market today.

Gains ran to between 1 and 3 points in those two divisions while elsewhere in the list changes were mostly in the smaller fractions.

Douglas Aircraft was by far the best performer with a gain of between 3 and 4 points at times. It was up 3 points yesterday.

Douglas turned in an excellent earnings report two days ago, and the entire aircraft division had the benefit of the President's proposal for heavy spending for aircraft defenses.

Railroads, which were neglected yesterday, staged a comeback today with the gains well distributed.

There were no major divisions of the market under depressed. Most were steady or narrowly mixed, with the exception of the firm aircrafts and railroads.

Two Say Viaduct Concrete Falls

A police blotter notation last night indicates that the city has at least two witnesses to the fact that the Washington avenue viaduct appears to be falling apart.

Orval Barber, of 496 Washington avenue, reported at 7:22 p. m. that "as he was walking by the Washington avenue viaduct with Bill Joy two pieces of concrete fell from the viaduct nearly striking them."

The public works department was notified.

The board authorized the "freeze-in" of the $360 cost-of-living bonus into regular salaries of its employees as was provided for in the 1954 city budget.

A petition of four property owners on a section of Mary's avenue for a sanitary sewer was referred to the city engineer for study and recommendation. The sewer is requested for 350 feet of the street east of West O'Reilly street.

The New York Telephone Co., informed the board that it would provide a rubber stamp to be used on excavation permits and calling attention to the urgency of the party granted the permit contacting a utility company which may have service lines in the excavation area.

A leave of absence granted Frank McMahon, of 303 Foxhall avenue, an employee of the engineer's department, was cancelled. McMahon had requested the leave to attend a national guard training school at Fort Sill, Okla., but he explained that the school session had been postponed.

Mayor of the city to raise my voice in protest." He called for a feeling of unity among the citizens of Kingston, as opposed to considering the problem from a sectional basis.

"We'll cross that bridge when we come to it," he quipped. In his talk, Mayor Stang paid tribute to the Kiwanis Club on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of Kiwanis International, which is being celebrated throughout this country and Canada this week. The speaker was introduced by Christopher D. Morris, program chairman.

Butler's Good Neighbor Day

Institution of Good Neighbor Day, whereby a certain percentage of sales on a certain day will be given to the needy, has been announced by the Butler Furniture Company, Route 28A.

Heber Butler, manager of the concern, announced today that Good Neighbor Days will be held the second Tuesday of every month when 10 per cent of each sale made on that particular day will be given to any person or family in need.

The furniture company's management further plans to forward a personal check or checks to any recognized charitable organization or committee of citizens in any community of Ulster county, to be given to the particular party the group judges to be the most in need.

"Any organization or committee contacting us will receive our full cooperation in this matter," Butler pointed out.

Arrangement of Good Neighbor Days was started by the Butler Furniture Company owners because of misfortunes which befall people such as fires, accidents or illnesses. "While sympathy is soothing and easily given, cash is more often needed. We, therefore, in order to show our appreciation in a more concrete way, have set aside the second Tuesday of every month as Good Neighbor Day."

Information regarding the Good Neighbor Day plan may be obtained by calling Doris or Heber Butler, 5376.

The Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, Howard C. Shurter director, during 1953 made contacts with 8,433 service men or families and rendered services in 12,748 individual instances. These services included advice to veterans and their dependents who sought advice and assistance in claims for benefits due them either by the federal government, state, county or municipal authorities.

In his annual report to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Mr. Shurter states there was compensation and pensions amounting to $51,835.20; burial allowances of $4,710; accrued benefits of $30,310.46 and insurance amounting to $3,752.86 per month received by county residents and in addition an estimated $1,320 per month being received as subsistence monies for men pursuing schooling or training. Much of this income to county residents would not be received were it not for the assistance rendered by the local agency.

Helped by State
The Veterans Service Agency operates on a total budget of $19,780, including salaries of personnel, supplies, material, travel and utility service. Of this amount $5,000 is reimbursed by the state of New York, making the total cost to Ulster county $14,780.

The main office is located at 32 Main street in Kingston staffed by Director Shurter, Gordon F. Irvine of Wallkill and John Tyler of Maple Hill as veteran advisors. Branch offices are also conducted in Saugerties and Highland. R. Earl Haley also conducts a full-time office in Ellenville devoting one day a month to Kernhonson activities. Mrs. Albert Cook serves as receptionist and typist and Miss Kathryn Weeks is stenographer in the Kingston office. The return of several hundred Korean veterans during the year caused an increase in the original contacts with discharge recordings on the increase. Some of the delay formerly encountered while waiting for copies of papers which must accompany claims was overcome with the purchase of the agency's own photo copying equipment.

Thanks Organizations
In his report Director Shurter thanked the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, County League, Red Cross, Welfare Department, Sheriff's office, Health Department, the County Clerk's office and the Kingston police department for cooperation and assistance.

The New York State Division of Veterans Affairs has continued its assistance through its counseling services, its weekly bulletin which offers up to date information regarding veterans regulations on any changes in previous legislation. Mr. Moore, the senior counselor whose territory includes Ulster county, and who maintains his office in our Agency building has also been helpful with suggestions and actual work assistance," the report continues.

A list of services rendered and the number and kinds of contacts made and the field of services covered is filed with the board of supervisors.

Committee Named To Study Zoning

Saugerties, Jan. 21—At the Village Board meeting Monday night at the municipal building Mayor George B. Holmes set up a committee to gather information and study the possibilities of zoning for the Village of Saugerties. Those appointed included William Zeigler, executive vice-president of the Saugerties National Bank; William F. Kelly, Partition street merchant; Rudolph P. Nelson, Main street merchant; Andrew P. Vozdick, president of Chamber of Commerce; Daniel N. Lamb and Louis P. Fancello, attorneys; Charles Gippert, employee of Martin Cantine Co.; Edward Reynolds, East Bridge street merchant; Harold W. Kamp, real estate and insurance agent; and Lewis F. Fellows, treasurer of Martin Cantine Co. This group was designated as a cross-section of the village and they were asked to report on their findings by April 1.

Mayor Holmes, when naming the Zoning Study Committee, set forth that they were not responsible to the Village Board for anything other than to file a complete report by April 1. One of the important items the committee must study is the cost of zoning. Undoubtedly this will be the main factor and the one that the taxpayers will most be interested in when the final reports have been submitted. The deadline of April 1 was determined in order that it might be complete before the 1954 budget hearings in the event that a zoning ordinance received wide approval. Mayor Holmes said he would be in contact with the new committee and help them suggest a time and place for their first meeting. He further said that he felt he should leave it up to the committee to organize and choose their own chairman.

Membership Approved
The Village Board approved the membership in the R. A. Snyder Fire Co. of Alfred Dreschler of Elm street, Robert M. Moser of Finger street and Walter Rittie of Washington avenue. Their membership was proposed at the last meeting of the Snyder Fire Co.

Gerald L. Snyder, village clerk, as tax collector, submitted the tax roll to the board for inspection and approval. The board gave its approval and that relieved Snyder of his tax warrant responsibility. The tax book was then turned back to Snyder to collect the unpaid taxes either by sale of the property or otherwise. The law provides that the village can sell all lands on which taxes have not been paid. Snyder, disclosed that there are 47 parcels in question and they represent $5,046 in unpaid taxes.

Rehearsal Postponed For Youth Minstrels

Saugerties, Jan. 21—Due to the small turnout of youngsters who are to participate in the All-Youth Minstrel Show which is being sponsored by the Saugerties Youth Council, it was necessary to call another meeting for Sunday, Jan. 24 at 2 p. m. in municipal auditorium. Hereafter, rehearsal nights will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. and on Sundays at 2 p. m.

Linda Ball was designated to recruit additional talent for the forthcoming minstrel and all prospects are asked to contact her or Keeley.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

THE PROPHET ROBIDA

In the past 25 years I have probably employed as many as a hundred fortune tellers in this cabaret and on that midway. For the most part, they were nice enough people, but I can't remember a single one of them who could predict where his next engagement was coming from. As a consequence, I've had little faith in the ability of mortal man to peek into a palm or a hunk of glass and come up with the right answers about tomorrow.

Along with millions of others, I, of course, have been intrigued by the work of Nostradamus, the astrologer and all-around seer, who set down hundreds of astonishing prophecies in the 16th century, many of which have come true. It has always been my wise-guy belief, however, that old Nostradamus was a lot more lucky than psychic and that soothsaying was essentially so much scotch.

The other night, though, I read a rough translation of a book published in Paris in 1883, the work of a Frenchman named Albert Robida, which shook up my smugness a bit. The book is called "La Vingtieme Siecle," meaning in our lingo, "The Twentieth Century," and I think there's a pretty penny waiting for the first publisher who puts out a good English translation.

Let me give you a random dozen of Mons. Robida's predictions which have already come to pass:

1. Television—pretty much in detail. (He called it the "telephonoscope.")
2. The Bolshevik Revolution in 1918. (He missed it by two years.)
3. Color photography.
4. High fidelity sound equipment.
5. Movies and the large screen.
6. The re-entry of the Jews into Jerusalem.
7. Scientific rainmaking—and snowmaking. (See recent dispatches from Vermont.)
8. Houses you can crank around to face the sun. (They're now on our drawing boards.)
9. Pocket books and digest magazines. (He called them "concentrated classics.")
10. Lady cops and lady barbers.
11. Automats and self-service restaurants.
12. Supersonic travel.

For good measure, the French forecaster threw in the modern skyscraper, subways, women's suffrage, radio, submarines, tape recorders and germ warfare. So much for what has come to pass.

As for the future, Robida, peering into his glass of absinthe, foresees a long list of synthetic foods and artificial stomachs to digest them. In a lighter vein, he blueprints "a theatre in multiple languages" in which the same melodrama will simultaneously be enacted on many levels and in many different languages. (I suppose he could be referring to the UN.)

Toward the end of the 20th century, the Frenchman predicts the discovery of the "Bacillus of Health," a super-germ which will destroy all man-killing germs. But he warns us not to exult—before the world will get to profit by this development, it will engage in large-scale germ warfare and wipe out most of its then-existing population.

Robida's predictions for Russia late in the 20th century are even more dismal. He foresees a grand finale to communism which he describes as "the last act of the nihilist tragedy." As he thumbnails it, an underground organization will plant a network of mines across Russia, composed of "a new substance" which will combine the full destructive potentials of electricity and air. These mines, when they are exploded, will reduce most of Russia to one immense crater, as a result of which the North and Baltic Seas will break through and flood the steppes.

In his quiet, fatalistic way, Robida concludes this prediction with the line, "There will be no more Russians." Albert Robida, in his book, of course, doesn't quite bat 100 per cent. His prediction average, however, is a startling one. And, as the saying goes, it's enough to give one pause. Not enough, perhaps, to make a Broadway wise guy shut up shop and buy himself a small cave in Arizona. Enough, however, to make him wonder whether the ragbag fortune tellers who used to work for him weren't a lot smarter than he thought they were.

The furniture company's management further plans to forward a personal check or checks to any recognized charitable organization or committee of citizens in any community of Ulster county, to be given to the particular party the group judges to be the most in need.

"Any organization or committee contacting us will receive our full cooperation in this matter," Butler pointed out.

Arrangement of Good Neighbor Days was started by the Butler Furniture Company owners because of misfortunes which befall people such as fires, accidents or illnesses. "While sympathy is soothing and easily given, cash is more often needed. We, therefore, in order to show our appreciation in a more concrete way, have set aside the second Tuesday of every month as Good Neighbor Day."

Information regarding the Good Neighbor Day plan may be obtained by calling Doris or Heber Butler, 5376.

THE RONDOUT NATIONAL BANK

CORNER BROADWAY & HENRY ST.

The Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, Howard C. Shurter director, during 1953 made contacts with 8,433 service men or families and rendered services in 12,748 individual instances. These services included advice to veterans and their dependents who sought advice and assistance in claims for benefits due them either by the federal government, state, county or municipal authorities.

In his annual report to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Mr. Shurter states there was compensation and pensions amounting to $51,835.20; burial allowances of $4,710; accrued benefits of $30,310.46 and insurance amounting to $3,752.86 per month received by county residents and in addition an estimated $1,320 per month being received as subsistence monies for men pursuing schooling or training. Much of this income to county residents would not be received were it not for the assistance rendered by the local agency.

Helped by State
The Veterans Service Agency operates on a total budget of $19,780, including salaries of personnel, supplies, material, travel and utility service. Of this amount $5,000 is reimbursed by the state of New York, making the total cost to Ulster county $14,780.

The main office is located at 32 Main street in Kingston staffed by Director Shurter, Gordon F. Irvine of Wallkill and John Tyler of Maple Hill as veteran advisors. Branch offices are also conducted in Saugerties and Highland. R. Earl Haley also conducts a full time office in Ellenville devoting one day a month to Kerhonkson activities. Mrs. Albert Cook serves as receptionist and typist and Miss Kathryn Weeks is stenographer in the Kingston office.

The return of several hundred Korean veterans during the year caused an increase in the original contacts with discharge recordings on the increase. Some of the delay formerly encountered while waiting for copies of papers which must accompany claims was overcome with the purchase of the agency's own photo copying equipment.

Thanks Organizations
In his report Director Shurter thanked the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Marine Corps League, Red Cross, Welfare Department, Sheriff's office, Health Department, the County Clerk's office and the Kingston police department for cooperation and assistance in the past year.

"The New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs has continued its assistance through its counseling services, its weekly bulletin which offers up to date information regarding veterans regulations on any changes in previous legislation. Mr. Moore, the senior counselor whose territory includes Ulster county, and who maintains his office in our Agency building has also been helpful with suggestions and actual work assistance," the report continues.

A list of services rendered and the number and kinds of contacts made and the field of services covered is filed with the board of supervisors.

Committee Named To Study Zoning

Saugerties, Jan. 21—At the Village Board meeting Monday night at the municipal building Mayor George B. Holmes set up a committee to gather information and study the possibilities of zoning for the Village of Saugerties. Those appointed included William Zeigler, executive vice-president of the Saugerties National Bank; William F. Kelly, Partition street merchant; Rudolph P. Nelson, Main street merchant; Andrew P. Vozdick, president of Chamber of Commerce; Daniel N. Lamb and Louis P. Fancello, attorneys; Charles Gippert, employee of Martin Cantine Co.; Edward Reynolds, East Bridge street merchant; Harold W. Kamp, real estate and insurance agent; and Lewis F. Fellows, treasurer of Martin Cantine Co. This group was designated as a cross-section of the village and they were asked to report on their findings by April 1.

Mayor Holmes, when naming the Zoning Study Committee, set forth that they were not responsible to the Village Board for their report by April 1. One of the important items the committee must study is the cost of zoning. Undoubtedly this will be the main factor and the one that the taxpayers will most be interested in when the final reports have been submitted. The deadline of April 1 was determined in order that it might be completed before the 1954 budget hearings in the event that a zoning ordinance received wide approval. Mayor Holmes said he would be in contact with the new committee and help them suggest a time and place for their first meeting. He further said that he felt he should leave it up to the committee to organize and choose their own chairman.

Membership Approved
The Village Board approved the membership in the R. A. Snyder Fire Co. of Alfred Dreschler of Elm street, Robert M. Moser of Finger street and Walter Rittie of Washington avenue. Their membership was proposed at the last meeting of the Snyder Fire Co.

Gerald L. Snyder, village clerk, as tax collector, submitted the tax roll to the board for inspection and approval. The board gave its approval and that relieved Snyder of his tax warrant responsibility. The tax book was then turned back to Snyder to collect the unpaid taxes either by sale of the property or otherwise. The law provides that the village can sell all lands on which taxes have not been paid. Snyder, disclosed that there are 47 parcels in question and they represent $5,046 in unpaid taxes.

INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE

While most governments procrastinate about surrendering a portion of their sovereignty to participate in world organizations, a truly unique college in Bruges, Belgium, is training a group of students from all over the world for careers in existing and future international organizations.

The College of Europe, now in its fourth academic year, is supported financially by West Germany, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and the European Coal and Steel Community. Its courses, all conducted at the post-graduate level, deal largely with the economic, political, administrative and cultural problems connected with European unity. An atmosphere of informality marks the relationships between students and professors, who live in a large building that was once a hotel. While formal studies are important, the college offers something more than academic courses.

"We want to breed international understanding not only by having the students working together, but also living and playing together," explains Mikail Drachkovich, a self-exiled Yugoslav who is dean of the college.

The growing recognition accorded the college is signified by the fact that one American student is attending it as a Fulbright scholar. Its importance will be further recognized as its graduates gain a voice in international affairs.

The College of Europe is fulfilling a function defined by General George C. Marshall when he received the Nobel Peace Prize recently. He called upon schools and colleges to teach peace, and to study the causes that lead to war so they can be avoided. Certainly the College of Europe will show how this can be done. It may help translate the General's words into a Marshall Plan for Peace that may eventually overshadow the economic assistance program that won him the Nobel prize.

One of the surest sources of household contentment for the man of the house is a new hat for his wife.

A COURAGEOUS STAND

The best members of Congress have always been those who have been aware of the dual responsibility that rests with those who sit in our Senate or House of Representatives. They know that they must represent the interests and the welfare of the people who send them to Congress; at the same time they are aware that their highest duty is to the nation as a whole.

In a country as large as ours it is inevitable that this dual responsibility carried by legislators will occasionally result in individual legislators having to make difficult decisions. A member of Congress who is more interested in winning re-election than he is in fulfilling his oath of office will often let sectionalism dictate his voting. He will support or oppose a measure purely because he knows that his stand will be popular at home.

Senator John F. Kennedy, junior Senator from Massachusetts, recently took a courageous stand against this sectionalism. THE FOREIGN POLICY

The 1930's in the economic field and the 1940's in foreign affairs are mental blocks in the 1950's. We employ terms which no longer fit, like Fascist, which currently, in the United States, has no meaning. There is a lingering opposition to colonialism, which is no longer a problem; it is rather that the nationalistic emergence of countries in Southeast Asia has so profoundly altered the balance of power that the formulation of a policy becomes very difficult for the United States.

Last Summer, an editorial in "The Manchester Guardian" began with these sentences: "When London lost the diplomatic initiative as the result of Sir Winston Churchill's illness, this passed to the two other centres—Washington and Moscow. In the last ten days all eyes have been on Washington. It was almost forgotten that the next moves might come from Moscow."

The initiative was seized by Stalin in 1943 at the Teheran Conference and has never been relinquished by Soviet Russia, President Eisenhower in his "State of the Union" message said:

"... That precious intangible, the initiative, is becoming ours. Our policy, not limited to mere reaction against crises provoked by others, is free to develop along lines of our choice not only abroad but at home. As a major theme for American policy during the coming year, let our joint determination be to hold this initiative and to use it."

The American policy of restoring the military and economic power of West Germany and Japan has been so sound that these countries today represent stabilizing forces in Europe and Asia. In taking all the risks involved in the rebuilding of West Germany and Japan, the United States has been courageous and farsighted. Public opinion, in this country, has not always supported these programs because of the hang-over of ideas concerning Germany and Japan from the 1940's.

In international affairs, neither allies nor enemies are permanent; they are interchangeable, depending upon the shifting winds of self-interest. Nor is self-interest always intelligent; sometimes, it is a response to immediate stresses. Self-interest can be dangerously temporary when no thought is given to consequences which seem so remote at the moment but come at us swiftly as the years pass.

Thus, we suddenly discover ourselves working with Franco's Spain that we accused of all felonies and misdemeanors not too long ago. It makes lots of sense to associate with Franco in the 1950's. For one thing, it balances the egotism of France, which has become politically senile in its understandable fear of war, having suffered so much from war and still being involved in it. And for another, it makes our defenses in Latin America stronger despite the Russian penetration in that area. The alliance with Spain represents a full victory for our side.

Similarly, we shall have to make friends with Peron in the Argentine even if no one in this country likes Peron's way of doing things. The issue is not Peron's habits but his value to the United States. As long as Moscow is making deep inroads in such Latin American countries as Guatemala, Honduras, British Guiana, Colombia, and Venezuela, the United States must build power in Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Peru, Uruguay and the Dominican Republic. These countries must balance with military and economic power the geographical closeness to the Panama Canal and the United States of those countries which are moving into the Soviet universal state. These are realities for which prejudices cannot be substituted.

So we come to the question of the Pact with Pakistan, which is being imposed by a sentimental attitude toward Nehru of India. A line of strong military states, with Pakistan, Iran and Turkey as central points, along the southern borders of Russia, would hamper the growth of the Soviet universal state. The Pact with Pakistan is therefore a realistic recognition of a soundly defensible area, holding Russia in check and embarrassing the growth of a Chinese hegemony over the sub-continent of Asia.

It is undoubtedly embarrassing to Nehru that the United States should prefer Pakistan to India, but from our standpoint it makes more sense to do business with the Moslem than with the Hindu. We shall get farther in our objectives that way—the principal objective being so to conduct our foreign policy that we are not again involved in a war not of our choice. SURGICAL SURVIVAL OF THE AGED

While it is only natural for physicians, surgeons and, also, patients to try to have necessary operations performed before old age occurs, nevertheless with the present equipment for surgical operations, quieting drugs before operation, more knowledge about anesthetics, and also more knowledge of after-care, they are finding that surgical operations on the elderly are not as dangerous as has been thought.

Thus we learn from an editorial in that high authority, the Journal of the American Medical Association, some interesting facts about the surgical survival of the young and the aged, based on an article by Dr. W. H. Cole in Annals of Surgery. "Although operations performed on elderly patients under most circumstances are more hazardous than when done on young patients, Dr. Cole points out that it is not generally realized that the ordinary or common diseases present in a community and complicating diseases are not counted or used in estimating dangers, aged persons will tolerate operations of moderate magnitude almost as well as the young; this, despite the well-known fact that the body reserves decrease with age and with the passage of time and arteries lose their elasticity."

With a view to evaluating the criterion commonly used for diagnosing that common heart disease, mitral regurgitation, Drs. W. H. Abelmann, L. B. Ellis, D. E. Harken and others report their study of sixty-four persons examined at surgery or autopsy. Twenty-seven were found at operation to have some degree of valve disturbance (mitral regurgitation) which was graded according to the size and force of the back-flow into the valve as felt by the surgeon's finger. The following points were noted—tiring easily, the murmur occurring with the first beat of the heart (systolic murmur), enlargement of the left ventricle of the heart, which part of the heart has to pump the blood through the body, not just through the lungs, and various other signs or symptoms assisted by the use of fluoroscopy (X-rays).

From their studies these research physicians state that no single criterion (sign or symptom) is adequate to give patient or physician a complete or definite prognosis (likely outcome of operation) but taken altogether the physician and surgeon can give the patient an approximate idea of the outcome of operation.

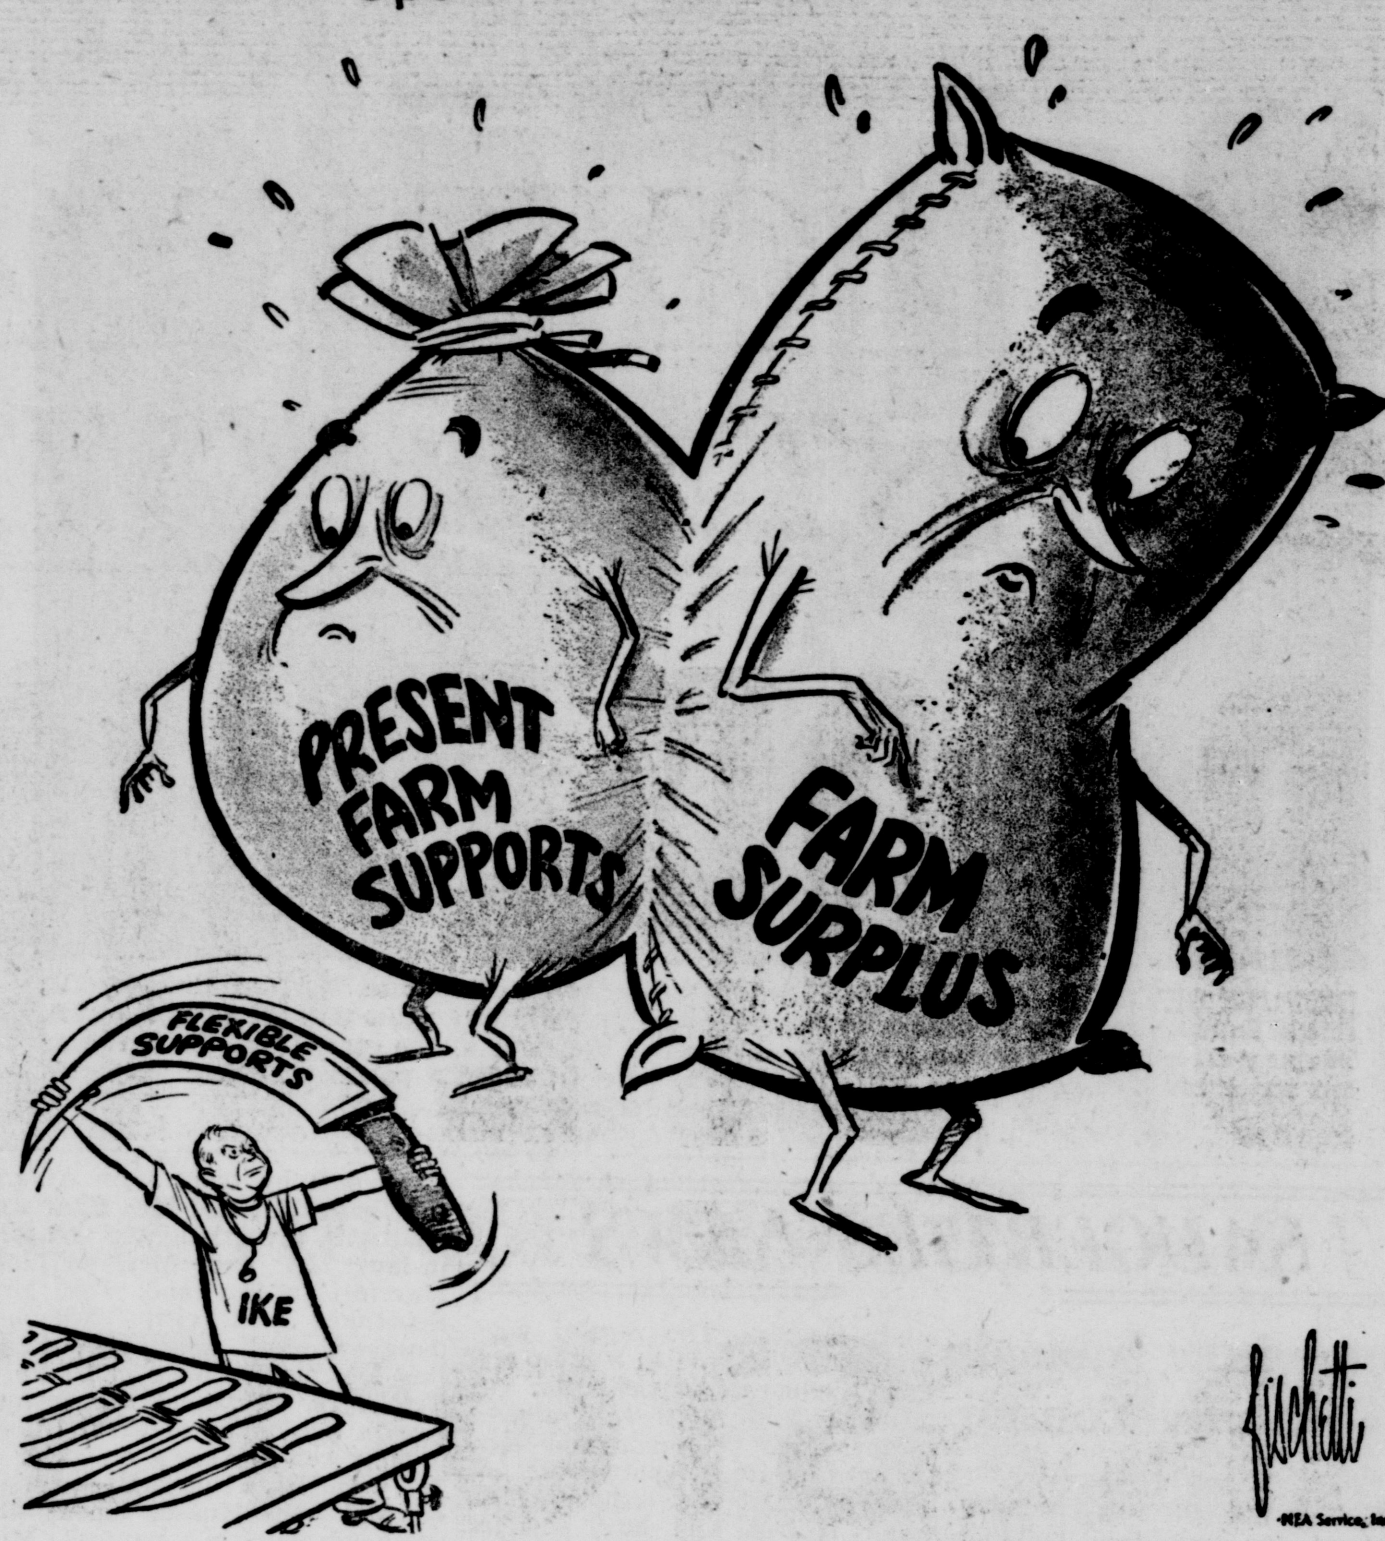

And now many surgeons are operating on the heart, doing operations formerly considered impossible, such as opening or widening valves or closing valves.

It is certainly comforting to know that as our loved ones grow older they can have these necessary operations performed with comparative safety.

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Republican congressional leaders concede that President Eisenhower's farm and labor programs will have the toughest sledding on Capitol Hill. It was "therefore fitting and proper" that the President opened his series of special messages to Congress with appeals for action in these two fields.

The official guess is that after the usual amount of criticism, squawking and yakety-yak, Congress will give the President about 85 per cent of what he asked for this year.

The Republicans believe that an accomplishment of this magnitude will be enough to convince the voters next November that an Eisenhower program has been passed.

The farm program is based primarily on a gradual shift to the flexible price-support system, which is a bitter pill for the fixed, 90-per-cent-of-parity-guarantee boys to swallow. But administration leaders say they have thoroughly investigated this and every other alternative—a two-price system, export subsidies, and putting off a decision for another year. The conclusion is that none of them is any good.

The flexible price-support system is the only thing that makes sense to the administration leaders. They are therefore prepared to push it through.

After allowing a reasonable time for congressional critics to blow off steam and make speeches in opposition for home consumption, GOP leaders are preparing to push for action.

The recalcitrants will not be brought into line publicly. The President has said many times that he doesn't like to jump on people.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Jan. 22, 1934—The police department reported a local dog census of 1,750.

Miss Mary Davitt, of Van Deusen street, suffered a fractured hip in a fall on an icy crosswalk. Cecelia Scherger died at her Murray street home.

Mrs. Grover Lasher was elected president of the Home for the Aged.

Miss Virginia Los Kamp resigned as director of the YWCA Schubert Choral Club.

Patronage as a Control Weapon

But the Republican leaders believe they now have the power to get their forces in line to support the President's program, by private but drastic control, through the use of such devices as the withholding of patronage.

The same political pressures will be used in getting action on the Taft-Hartley labor law amendments. No Republican leader seems to have any delusions about the use of such devices as the withholding of patronage.

But they do believe they can satisfy the rank and file of union labor voters. And they are still apparently working on the theory that there is no such thing as a controlled labor vote.

The practical test of the 1934 election prospects is being applied to this labor issue. The President's proposals for amendments to the Taft-Hartley act are intended primarily to liberalize it enough to help Republican candidates from industrial districts where there is a large union labor membership among the voters.

Both the farm and the labor proposals are said to represent President Eisenhower's "middle-of-the-road" philosophy.

And, as Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said in commenting on the President's Taft-Hartley act amendments, "I'm not wise enough nor have I seen enough to tell you who will object to what."

The origin of all these farm and labor message ideas could not be more different.

Everyone Gets in the Act

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson points out that over 500 people got into the farm program during the past year.

Included were congressmen, farm organizations, producer and trade groups, the agricultural colleges, Department of Agriculture experts and—most important of all—the President's own National Agricultural Advisory Commission. This last-mentioned group probably had the most influence of all. It deliberated in secret session. Secretary Benson concedes that since it was a government body, the record of its recommendations should probably be made public later on. Not to do so could be interpreted as government by secret clique and selfish interest.

By contrast, the labor message recommendations were drawn up by persons unknown.

Early last year the President named a labor-management advisory committee to write a program. It blew up.

Former Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin then tried to draw up a series of amendments with the help of union leaders. When his program was turned aside, if not turned down, Durkin resigned.

His successor, James P. Mitchell, presided over the preparation of what has now emerged as President Eisenhower's message on Taft-Hartley amendments, with the help of nobody knows who.

Secretary Mitchell says only that it came as a result of a long series of conferences. He mentions Department of Commerce specifically, but nobody else.

"They are the President's proposals, and I'm in favor of them," says Mitchell bluntly. He says the President was merely stating a philosophy in his labor message.

He was not dictating legislation. Carrying out the President's ideas in laws will be left to Congress.

President's Budget Is Considered Major Achievement Important to Taxpayers

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 22—President Eisenhower has balanced the cash budget. The government will take in more cash than it will spend for the year beginning July 1 next.

This is an achievement of major importance, not merely to the taxpayers of America but to the world in which the integrity of the dollar plays a principal role today.

The details of a budget are complex and the methods by which the federal government keeps its books are wholly unlike those of private business. Capital outlays and loans are regarded as expenses, along with current operating expenditures. So the important thing to look at is whether the government is collecting more money than it is spending and whether it is being forced to keep on borrowing to get funds to pay deficits.

The Eisenhower administration came into power just a year ago and was confronted with the operation of only the second half of the 1953 budget. This terminated on June 30, 1953. The budget for the fiscal year July 1, 1953 to June 30, 1954 was already so far grooved into the operating system of the government—with contracts let far in advance and obligations already incurred—that there was no chance to do any major cutting. Where there was still discretion left and cuts could be made, the new administration was able to economize substantially.

But everyone who has followed budget matters knew that the real test would come in the so-called 1955 budget. This is the one on which work started in the summer of 1953 and has continued until this week, when the document was issued showing what estimated receipts and expenditures would be for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1954 and continuing until June 30, 1955. This is what's called the "1955 budget."

Examining this—the first Eisenhower budget—it will be discovered that there will be a $100,000,000 surplus on a cash basis. This isn't large, but at least the cash deficits have been ended.

From a bookkeeping standpoint, too, using the same classifications that have been employed in previous presidential budgets, the Eisenhower message reveals that, although the Truman administration's fiscal experts predicted a deficit of approximately $15 billion, the Eisenhower prediction is for a deficit of only $2.9 billion.

All this has been accomplished despite a tax cut that means about $6 billion less in revenue previously received from certain sources.

But the facts of the budget, as revealed, are on the whole encouraging and it may be said that in a practical sense President Eisenhower has fulfilled his campaign pledge when he presents a budget in which the money to be spent is less by $100,000,000 than the money that is to be collected from the taxpayers. Receipts may grow larger than have been anticipated, because the incentives to business expansion through revision of the tax laws may give America the same kind of life that Britain got when the same principle—incentive taxation—was adopted last year at the suggestion of Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, Jan. 21—The terrible decline of the institution of free government in the United States is seen in dramatic lights and lines in this so-called dictatorship.

We waste many billions on the burdensome affectation of labor unions which are an immoral and arrogant tyranny over the workers and the nation and produce a net result of waste, inflation, taxes and crime.

They have made hypocritical cowards of all our public officials, including President Eisenhower, whose best excuse is that he doesn't know what he is talking about when he speaks of "labor."

They have brain-washed our press, much of our clergy, and our courts, from the highest to the lowest, and most of the people.

On Feb. 27, 1952, Rafael L. Trujillo, who is always truly referred to in the obedient Dominican press as "benefactor of the republic," made an address to the national legislature in which he said: "I have never regarded democracy as the servant of misery and backwardness."

Of course, the United States never was intended to be a democracy, but the promoters of the monstrous power which now has a vested right to riot and kill, to throttle industry and bleed the nation, constantly insist that it is what the founding fathers intended our country to be. Taking them at their word, then it is plain that Trujillo is much more sensible, practical and helpful to his people than Roosevelt, Truman or Eisenhower has been or ours. He is indeed a "benefactor de la patria."

Is it any worse that a presidential dictator has power to say "there will be no strike" than a John L. Lewis, a Walter Reuther or a Dave Beck has power to decree strikes by fiat and throw vast regions into anarchy and millions of people out of work who have absolutely no voice in the question? Is Trujillo, the elected autocrat and a popular hero of an enormous majority of 2,000,000 Dominican people, less laudable from the standpoint of any honest American than those parasitic interlopers who never have held credentials from the people of the United States nor even from the people of their own unions?

If Trujillo is a dictator, what would you call Lewis? Lewis, who has called out the coal miners for months at a stretch with a jerk of his thumb and never has submitted to an election to his autocratic office. Perhaps you do not know anything about the political methods of the United Mine Workers and other Hitlerian union autocrats? You may have been just too lazy to read and learn the menacing facts which have been thrown at you in this source of important information for more than 15 years. I get letters right along from people who are just beginning to stir in their stupor, asking me if things can really be, which I have established in print with abundant, undisputed cumulative proof since Roosevelt's system of dictatorships first took shape and power.

Lewis never has had a valid certificate of election to the presidency of the United Mine Workers at all in his evil history. He "elects" himself by the "vote" of puppets named by Lewis himself to reign as "receivers" in a sufficient number of "districts" to control the result. The electoral unit is the "district" and these receivers no more fairly represent the miners in those "districts" than the Russian puppets in the Baltic states and Poland represent those peoples. And in the end, Lewis counts the votes.

Yet, Lewis was Roosevelt's protégé and creature and he broke with Roosevelt and Truman, over no matter of Democratic principle but only of conflicts of will and ambition. Roosevelt and Truman would have remained his friends and might have called on him to terrorize whole states as he did in the "organizing" campaigns of the CIO in 1937, but for clashes of cynical personalities.

Reuther confirmed his power by a series of bloody victories in fights in the state of American cities. Yes, La Brea, No Chicahines because someone potted him with a shotgun. The United Auto Workers had been established originally by Lewis in a reign of brutal anarchy which reduced the cowardly governor, Frank Murphy, to whimpering betrayal of the state of Michigan. For this infamy Roosevelt promoted him to the office of attorney general and then to the Supreme Court. Yet, in 1946, Reuther scorched the very earth of the motor industry for 100 days by autocratic decree. By that action he threw helpless millions out of work all the way back to the mines, the forests and the textile plants and as far forward as the advertising, clerical and sales departments. INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE

While most governments procrastinate about surrendering a portion of their sovereignty to participate in world organizations, a truly unique college in Bruges, Belgium, is training a group of students from all over the world for careers in existing and future international organizations.

The College of Europe, now in its fourth academic year, is supported financially by West Germany, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and the European Coal and Steel Community. Its courses, all conducted at the post-graduate level, deal largely with the economic, political, administrative and cultural problems connected with European unity. An atmosphere of informality marks the relationships between students and professors, who live in a large building that was once a hotel. While formal studies are important, the college offers something more than academic courses.

"We want to breed international understanding not only by having the students working together, but also living and playing together," explains Mikail Drachovich, a self-exiled Yugoslav who is dean of the college.

The growing recognition accorded the college is signified by the fact that one American student is attending it as a Fulbright scholar. Its importance will be further recognized as its graduates gain a voice in international affairs.

The College of Europe is fulfilling a function defined by General George C. Marshall when he received the Nobel Peace Prize recently. He called upon schools and colleges to teach peace, and to study the causes that lead to war so they can be avoided. Certainly the College of Europe will show how this can be done. It may help translate the General's words into a Marshall Plan for Peace that may eventually overshadow the economic assistance program that won him the Nobel prize.

One of the surest sources of household contentment for the man of the house is a new hat for his wife.

A COURAGEOUS STAND

The best members of Congress have always been those who have been aware of the dual responsibility that rests with those who sit in our Senate or House of Representatives. They know that they must represent the interests and the welfare of the people who send them to Congress; at the same time they are aware that their highest duty is to the nation as a whole.

In a country as large as ours it is inevitable that this dual responsibility carried by legislators will occasionally result in individual legislators having to make difficult decisions. A member of Congress who is more interested in winning re-election than he is in fulfilling his oath of office will often let sectionalism dictate his voting. He will support or oppose a measure purely because he knows that his stand will be popular at home.

Senator John F. Kennedy, junior Senator from Massachusetts, recently took a courageous stand against this sectionalism. The Republicans believe that an accomplishment of this magnitude will be enough to convince the voters next November that an Eisenhower program has been passed.

The farm program is based primarily on a gradual shift to the flexible price-support system, which is a bitter pill for the fixed, 90-per-cent-of-parity-guarantee boys to swallow. But administration leaders say they have thoroughly investigated this and every other alternative—a two-price system, export subsidies, and putting off a decision for another year. The conclusion is that none of them is any good.

The flexible price-support system is the only thing that makes sense to the administration leaders. They are therefore prepared to push it through.

After allowing a reasonable time for congressional critics to blow off steam and make speeches in opposition for home consumption, GOP leaders are preparing to push for action.

The recalcitrants will not be brought into line publicly. The President has said many times that he doesn't like to jump on people.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Jan. 22, 1934—The police department reported a local dog census of 1,750.

Miss Mary Davitt, of Van Deusen street, suffered a fractured hip in a fall on an icy crosswalk. Cecelia Scherger died at her Murray street home.

Mrs. Grover Lasher was elected president of the Home for the Aged.

Miss Virginia Los Kamp resigned as director of the YWCA Schubert Choral Club.

Patronage as a Control Weapon

But the Republican leaders believe they now have the power to get their forces in line to support the President's program, by private but drastic control, through the use of such devices as the withholding of patronage.

The same political pressures will be used in getting action on the Taft-Hartley labor law amendments. No Republican leader seems to have any delusions about the President's program satisfying the union labor leaders. That's admittedly impossible.

But they do believe they can satisfy the rank and file of union labor voters. And they are still apparently working on the theory that there is no such thing as a controlled labor vote. The practical test of the 1954 election prospects is being applied to this labor issue. The President's proposals for amendments to the Taft-Hartley act are intended primarily to liberalize it enough to help Republican candidates from industrial districts where there is a large union labor membership among the voters.

Both the farm and the labor proposals are said to represent President Eisenhower's "middle-of-the-road" philosophy. And, as Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said in commenting on the President's Taft-Hartley act amendments, "I'm not wise enough nor have I seen enough to tell you who will object to what."

The origin of all these farm and labor message ideas could not be more different.

Everyone Gets in the Act

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson points out that over 500 people got into the farm program act during the past year.

Included were congressmen, farm organizations, producer and trade groups, the agricultural colleges, Department of Agriculture experts and—most important of all—the President's own National Agricultural Advisory Commission. This last-mentioned group probably had the most influence of all. It deliberated in secret session. Secretary Benson concedes that since it was a government body, the record of its recommendations should probably be made public later on. Not to do so could be interpreted as government by secret clique and selfish interest.

By contrast, the labor message recommendations were drawn up by persons unknown.

Early last year the President named a labor-management advisory committee to write a program. It blew up.

Former Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin then tried to draw up a series of amendments with the help of union leaders. When his program was turned aside, if not turned down, Durkin resigned.

His successor, James P. Mitchell, presided over the preparation of what has now emerged as President Eisenhower's message on Taft-Hartley amendments, with the help of nobody knows who.

Secretary Mitchell says only that it came as a result of a long series of conferences. He mentions Department of Commerce specifically, but nobody else.

"They are the President's proposals, and I'm in favor of them," says Mitchell bluntly. He says the President was merely stating a philosophy in his labor message. He was not dictating legislation. Carrying out the President's ideas in laws will be left to Congress.

President's Budget Is Considered Major Achievement Important to Taxpayers

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 22—President Eisenhower has balanced the cash budget. The government will take in more cash than it will spend for the year beginning July 1 next.

This is an achievement of major importance, not merely to the taxpayers of America but to the world in which the integrity of the dollar plays a principal role today.

The details of a budget are complex and the methods by which the federal government keeps its books are wholly unlike those of private business. Capital outlays and loans are regarded as expenses, along with current operating expenditures. So the important thing to look at is whether the government is collecting more money than it is spending and whether it is being forced to keep on borrowing to get funds to pay deficits.

The Eisenhower administration came into power just a year ago and was confronted with the operation of only the second half of the 1953 budget. This terminated on June 30, 1953. The budget for the fiscal year July 1, 1953 to June 30, 1954 was already so far grooved into the operating system of the government—with contracts let far in advance and obligations already incurred—that there was no chance to do any major cutting. Where there was still discretion left and cuts could be made, the new administration was able to economize substantially.

But everyone who has followed budget matters knew that the real test would come in the so-called 1955 budget. This is the one on which work started in the summer of 1953 and has continued until this week, when the document was issued showing what estimated receipts and expenditures would be for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1954 and continuing until June 30, 1955. This is what's called the "1955 budget."

Examining this—the first Eisenhower budget—it will be discovered that there will be a $100,000,000 surplus on a cash basis. This isn't large, but at least the cash deficits have been ended.

From a bookkeeping standpoint, too, using the same classifications that have been employed in previous presidential budgets, the Eisenhower message reveals that, although the Truman administration's fiscal experts predicted a deficit of approximately $15 billion, the Eisenhower prediction is for a deficit of only $2.9 billion.

All this has been accomplished despite a tax cut that means about $6 billion less in revenue previously received from certain sources.

So what has happened is that the Eisenhower administration has borne the brunt of a tax cut, which reduced receipts from corporation and individual income taxes, and yet has come up with an actual cash surplus and a bookkeeping deficit of only one-fifth of what had been estimated for the fiscal year 1955 by the preceding administration.

"These reductions (in expenses)," says the President, "justified lower taxes. Without tax reductions a budget surplus was in sight for the fiscal year 1955." This is big news for the American people. But a budget message is only what the President recommends. The House and Senate can upset the appeal by increasing the expenditures or they can cut still further and bring the bookkeeping budget down closer to a balance.

Certainly as the Republicans go into the 1954 congressional campaign, the record on appropriations will be scrutinized. Will the majority have aided in bringing the budget closer to a balance, or will they have widened the gap?

The pressure on Congress to spend money for local projects or to benefit special interests is always strong. The drive to keep the debt limit from rising is one that may have a psychological effect in forcing a balance on the bookkeeping side. Senator Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia says he is convinced that the facts disclosed by the budget message confirm his attitude in refusing to see the debt limit increased.

There are occasions when a higher debt limit is necessary for brief intervals. If the law could be amended so that the debt limit could be increased temporarily during a fiscal year, provided a certain limit was achieved at the end of the year, it might give the treasury the flexibility it needs in refunding or refinancing its debt.

But the facts of the budget, as revealed, are on the whole encouraging and it may be said that in a practical sense President Eisenhower has fulfilled his campaign pledge when he presented a budget in which the money to be spent is less by $100,000,000 than the money that is to be collected from the taxpayers. Receipts may grow larger than have been anticipated, because the incentives to business expansion through revision of the tax laws may give America the same kind of life that Britain got when the same principle—incentive taxation—was adopted last year at the suggestion of Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, Jan. 21—The terrible decline of the institution of free government in the United States is seen in dramatic lights and lines in this so-called dictatorship.

We waste many billions on the burdensome affectation of labor unions which are an immoral and arrogant tyranny over the workers and the nation and produce a net result of waste, inflation, taxes and crime. They have made hypocritical cowards of all our public officials, including President Eisenhower, whose best excuse is that he doesn't know what he is talking about when he speaks of "labor." They have brain-washed our press, much of our clergy, and our courts, from the highest to the lowest, and most of the people.

On Feb. 27, 1952, Rafael L. Trujillo, who is always truly referred to in the obedient Dominican press as "benefactor of the republic," made an address to the national legislature in which he said: "I have never regarded democracy as the servant of misery and backwardness."

Of course, the United States never was intended to be a democracy, but the promoters of the monstrous power which now has a vested right to riot and kill, to throttle industry and bleed the nation constantly insist that that is what the founding fathers intended our country to be. Taking them at their word, then it is plain that Trujillo is much more sensible, practical and helpful to his people than Roosevelt, Truman or Eisenhower has been to ours. He is indeed a "benefactor of the patriots."

Is it any worse that a presidential dictator has power to say "there will be no strike" than a John L. Lewis, a Walter Reuther or a Dave Beck has power to decree strikes by fiat and throw vast regions into anarchy and millions of people out of work who have absolutely no voice in the question? Is Trujillo, the elected autocrat and a popular hero of an enormous majority of 2,000,000 Dominican people, less laudable from the standpoint of free and honest Americans than these so-called interlopers who never have held credentials from the people of the United States nor even from the people of their own unions?

If Trujillo is a dictator, what would you call Lewis? Lewis, who has called out the coal miners for months at a stretch with a jerk of his thumb and never has submitted to an election to his autocratic office. Perhaps you do not know anything about the political methods of the United Mine Workers and other Hitlerian union autocracies? You may have been just too lazy to read and learn about the amazing facts which have been thrust upon you in this source of important information for more than 15 years. I get letters right along from people who are just beginning to stir in their stupor, asking me if things can really be, which I have established in my abundant, undisputed cumulative proof since Roosevelt's system of dictatorships first took shape and power.

Lewis never has had a valid certificate of election to the presidency of the United Mine Workers in all his evil, bloody rule. He "elects" himself by the "vote" of puppets named by Lewis himself to reign as "receivers" in a sufficient number of "districts" to control the result. The electoral unit is the "district" and these receivers no more fairly represent the miners in those "districts" than the Russian puppets in the Baltic states and Poland represent those peoples. And in the end, Lewis counts the votes.

Yet, Lewis was Roosevelt's protégé and creature and he broke with Roosevelt and Truman, over no matter of Democratic principle but only over conflict of will and ambition. Roosevelt and Truman would have remained his friends and might have called on him to terrorize whole states as he did in the "organizing" campaigns of the CIO in 1937, but for clashes of cynical personalities.

Reuther confirmed his power by a series of bloody victories in fights in the streets of American cities. Yet La Brea No Chica whines because someone potted him with a shotgun. The United Auto Workers had been established originally by Lewis in a reign of brutal anarchy which reduced the cowardly governor, Frank Murphy, to whimpering betrayal of the state of Michigan. For this infamously Roosevelt promoted him to the office of attorney general and then to the Supreme Court. Yet, in 1946, Reuther scorched the very earth of the motor industry for 100 days by automatic decree. By that action he threw helpless millions out of work all the way back to the mines, the forests and the textile plants and as far forward as the advertising, clerical and sales departments. Phil Murray did the

Turkey Wants Era Of Lasting Peace Says Sorosis Speaker

Mrs. Clarence Dumm said that "the New Turkey" will need a long and lasting peace in order to carry out extensive improvements. In a paper given before a meeting of Sorosis, held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Molloy, Mrs. Dumm gave an overall view of the changes in this country over a period of years.

This report is a timely one, since the President of that country, Celal Bayar, is to tour the United States. Founded in 1923, the new Turkish Republic, with a duly elected president at its head, has made great progress in education, industry, transportation and the development of natural resources.

A predominantly rural nation, Turkey is improving the primitive methods by having instructors visit farms, and institute mechanical improvements. Turkish tobacco, carpets, rugs, the raising of angora goats for the making of mohair, contribute to Turkish commerce.

Education, divided between books and practical applications, and compulsory only to a certain age, may be carried on further at the expense of the state. The New Turkey, as Mrs. Dumm explained, is looking forward to making better use of all resources, to raising the standard of living, and to giving equal rights and opportunities to all. At the present time, much of the Turkish budget is being used for defense and their contributions to the UN, hence the desire for peace.

At the close of Mrs. Dumm's talk, Mr. Dumm showed an informative motion picture entitled, This Modern Age, loaned by the Turkish Information Office in New York.

The following were present: the Misses John Sleight, Jeremy Bouchard, Michael Martin, Kenneth Martin, Bernhardt Kramer, and Max Oppenheimer. Richard Holbrook and Huyler Van Wagenen, Sr. also attended.

Mr. Van Wagenen, the finance chairman, announced his plans for the coming year, expressing the hope that the group will receive the active support of a large number of the parents of the girl scouts in the area, thus taking the burden from the scout leaders.

Mrs. Kramer, the new chairman of the Association, said that she believes that when the people of Kingston come to understand the aims and purposes of this new organization, they will be willing to help in every way possible. The Kingston Community Association was formed less than a year ago to conduct the business affairs of the girl scouts in Kingston and Port Jervis, with efforts directed toward expanding and improving the girl scout program. Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST
(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

TO WHOM DOES THE MONEY GO?

A reader explains: "When my husband and I were married a year ago we had very little money to furnish our apartment. Very good friends of ours gave us two end tables which they no longer needed. My husband has been offered a position in a distant city and rather than pay to have our furniture shipped there (the cost is considerable), we thought we would sell most of our things and buy new ones later. The question has come up as to what to do with the money received from the sale of the end tables. Should this be offered to our friends, or may we keep it?"

I think you should explain to your friends what you intend to do and ask them if they want the tables back. If they say they don't want them, then you are free to sell them, and the money that they bring at the sale is yours to keep.

Order of Written Pages

Dear Mrs. Post: In our English class we are studying letter forms and there seems to be a difference of opinion as to the proper way to write on double-fold note paper. Some think that the pages should follow consecutively as the pages of a book, and others think it should be page one, then three, two and four.

Answer: A great many people, especially men, write one, two three and four, which is quite correct. I do think, however, that writing page one, then four and then turning the paper sideways and writing lengthways across three and two, is the practice of most women.

Behavior in Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Post: When a lady leaves and returns to a table, should the men in the party rise? I have noticed that in the nicer restaurants and night clubs, the men do rise; but in less exclusive ones, very few make the effort to rise. Does the type of place influence this courtesy?

Answer: It is a question of punctilious manners, not the locality. However, a lady should get up very quickly so that only the man with whom she happens to be talking has time to rise.

Some readers write that they find the introducing of family and friends confusing. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-17, "Introductions," will be helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Turkey Wants Era
Of Lasting Peace
Says Sorosis Speaker

Mrs. Clarence Dumm said that "the New Turkey" will need a long and lasting peace in order to carry out extensive improvements. In a paper given before a meeting of Sorosis, held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Mollett, Mrs. Dumm gave an overall view of the changes in this country over a period of years.

This report is a timely one, since the President of that country, Celal Beyar, is to tour the United States. Founded in 1923, the new Turkish Republic, with a duly elected president at its head, has made great progress in education, industry, transportation and the development of natural resources.

A predominantly rural nation, Turkey is improving the primitive methods by having instructors visit farms, and institute mechanical improvements. Turkish tobacco, carpets, rugs, the raising of angora goats for the making of mohair, contribute to Turkish commerce.

Education, divided between books and practical applications, and compulsory only to a certain age, may be carried on further at the expense of the state. The New Turkey, as Mrs. Dumm explained, is looking forward to making better use of all resources, to raising the standard of living, and to giving equal rights and opportunities to all. At the present time, much of the Turkish budget is being used for defense and their contributions to the UN, hence the desire for peace.

At the close of Mrs. Dumm's talk, Mr. Dumm showed an informative motion picture entitled, This Modern Age, loaned by the Turkish Information Office in New York.

TO WHOM DOES THE MONEY GO?

A reader explains: "When my husband and I were married a year ago we had very little money to furnish our apartment. Very good friends of ours gave us two end tables which they no longer needed. My husband has been offered a position in a distant city and rather than pay to have our furniture shipped there (the cost is considerable), we thought we would sell most of our things and buy new ones later. The question has come up as to what to do with the money received from the sale of the end tables. Should this be offered to our friends, or may we keep it?"

I think you should explain to your friends what you intend to do and ask them if they want the tables back. If they say they don't want them, then you are free to sell them, and the money that they bring at the sale is yours to keep.

Order of Written Pages

Dear Mrs. Post: In our English class we are studying letter forms and there seems to be a difference of opinion as to the proper way to write on double-fold note paper. Some think the pages should follow consecutively as the pages of a book, and others think it should be page one, then three, two and four.

Answer: A great many people, especially men, write one, two, three and four, which is quite correct. I do think, however, that writing page one, then four and then turning the paper sideways and writing lengthways across three and two, is the practice of most women.

Behavior in Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Post: When a lady leaves and returns to a table, should the men in the party rise? I have noticed that in the nicer restaurants and night clubs, the men do rise; but in less exclusive ones, very few make the effort to rise. Does the type of place influence this courtesy?

Answer: It is a question of punctilious manners, not the locality. However, a lady should get up very quickly so that only the man with whom she happens to be talking has time to rise.

Some readers write that they find the introducing of family and friends confusing. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-17, "Introductions," will be helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

West Shokan, Jan. 22—The announcement in Monday evening's Freeman of the death of Edward J. Scherer revived local baseball memories of the reservoir days when the young and colorful southpaw baffled the Shokan batters with his wide and tantalizing curves and unique delivery as a member of the fast Wilbur club. On occasion he did mound duty for the Shokan team against other visiting teams. Other Kingston and Wilbur stars who performed on the Shokan team included "Cy" Conners, Matty Clark, George Zoller, Artie Rice, Matty Deegan and others.

Enumerator Claude N. Beidler has completed the dog census at 366, an increase of six over the 1952 figure.

After this I heard him many a morning. In New York you aren't

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Manhattan has its morning sounds, just like a small town neighborhood or a farm in the country.

But here they are the wail of a fire or police siren . . . the clank of a garbage can against a sanitation truck . . . the wall-vibrating snore of the man next door . . . and the one we miss the most, now that it is gone, the "cloppity-clop-clop" of the 6 o'clock horse.

One summer morning several years ago, shortly after we had moved into an apartment in a big 15-story brick hut by the East river, I woke to see my wife standing by the window with an alarm clock in her hand.

"Who are you going to drop that clock on?" I asked. "Don't you know it's against the law to bear anybody from a high window in New York?"

"Don't always talk so silly, Rover," said Frances. "I'm waiting to set this clock. It stopped during the night."

"What are you going to set it by, the morning star?" "No," she said. "I'm going to set it by the 6 o'clock horse."

"What in the world is that?" "Come and see."

I yawned my way to the window. A few moments later there sounded a distant "cloppity-clop-clop," grew louder. Then around the corner came a small elderly horse, driven by a small elderly man sitting atop a small elderly ice wagon shaded by a faded small elderly beach umbrella.

As the little dark sorrel animal and the creaking vehicle passed beneath our window, Frances set the clock and said:

"That's the 6 o'clock horse. Haven't you heard him before? He's never more than a minute or two off any morning."

"He makes such a cute sound. And he looks so patient and nice. Sometimes that old man leans over and hits him with a little stick, but the 6 o'clock horse doesn't pay any attention to him. He always goes at just that same pace . . . listen to him."

"Cloppity-clop-clop, cloppity-clop-clop," rang the hoofs of the 6 o'clock horse.

After this I heard him many a morning. In New York you aren't allowed to keep even a Shetland pony in an apartment; you have to fall in love with other people's horses. And the 6 o'clock horse became a pleasant part of our lives.

In summer he hauled ice, in winter wood. But every day he was punctual.

"He is just as punctual going back in the evenings," said Frances. "He comes by at exactly 5:30. I wish I had married a man as punctual as that little horse."

Age Makes No Difference "Cloppity-clop-clop"—through the years, through shower and sunshine, through fog and mist and snow, Wagon and man grew older, and so did the 6 o'clock horse. But he trotted at the same steady pace—"cloppity-clop-clop."

In the neighboring big brick hut our friends, Harriet and Ken Porter, had a small daughter, Patty. The little girl fell in love with the horse, and waited for it each evening.

"She can hear it before any of us," said her mother, "and cries to be lifted to the window to see it."

Someone else along the route must have loved the small horse, too, because it sometimes would be wearing a gay ribbon in its bridle when it went "cloppity-clop-clop" by on its way home. Patty called the ribbon "the horse's hat."

One night I made plans to get up early the next morning and take down some carrots and sugar lumps for the 6 o'clock horse. But I overslept, and awoke to hear his hoofbeats already fading away, and somehow after that I never managed to translate my good intention into a deed.

The other morning I awakened early and lazily watched the clock's hand crawl past 6 o'clock. No "cloppity-clop-clop." At 6:15 I got up and went to the window and looked down. The street was bare in the cold dawn. No horse. I turned and saw Frances looking at me.

"I wondered when you'd miss him," she said. "He hasn't been by for weeks."

"What happened?"

Recognition Too Late

"Nobody in the neighborhood knows," said Frances. "They all three were so old and looked so worn. Maybe the wagon just fell to pieces . . . or the old man died . . . or the little horse fell down and couldn't get up. Patty still goes to the window to look for him."

A brightness left the morning and every morning since then. There was such a brightness about that steady "cloppity-clop-clop" . . . it was like losing something you never owned but felt in your heart belonged to you, a feeling you often have about small things that give a stability to your life in a big city.

This is my carot . . . these my lumps of sugar . . . to the 6 o'clock horse . . . given, as many things in this world are, too late . . . and I think of this as I lie in my bed in the morning, listening for a "cloppity-clop-clop" . . . and hearing only the wail of a siren, the clank of a garbage can, the snore of the man next door.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted."

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, lousy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Bob Bondar Regains Eligibility as Kingston Plays Catskill

6 Foot 2 Player Will Add Power To Backcourt

Figures to Gain Starting Berth

Bob Bondar, a 6 foot 2 guard, who will add height, size and scoring power to Kingston High's backcourt, becomes eligible for competition tonight as the Maroons makes a rare foray out of the DUSO to play at Catskill High.

Ineligible in the first semester because he missed school for a year, Bondar has worked out faithfully with the squad and hasn't missed a practice session since the workouts started in November.

Bondar, who jumps well, is a steady rebounder and has a good jump shot from the four circle. He is eligible only for the remainder of the 1954 season.

Kias Sees Improvement
Coach G. Warren Kias, concerned about the lack of scoring by the Kingston guards, hailed Bondar's return to the squad.

"Bondar is a steady rebounder and should give us scoring punch we have lacked to date at the guard spots," the Maroon mentor said on the eve of the always-tough date at Catskill.

The addition of Bondar bolsters Kingston's chances for the DUSO title and should be an important factor in the return game with Poughkeepsie. The assumption is he will replace Rocky Miller in the starting lineup.

Catskill Tough
With 16 games provided by the DUSO schedule, Catskill is the only non-conference opponent on the local slate. The Greene county cagers have been tough for Kingston, splitting the four meetings between the two teams.

Coach Kias said he didn't have a line on the Catskill strength this season but pointed out: "Catskill is always 'up' for us. They play on a small court and generally throw a tight zone defense at us. They are just as tough for us as any team in the DUSO."

Broadhead Improved
Skip Broadhead, who missed school after playing his heart out against Newburgh, worked out yesterday. Although he still showed the effects of a cold, he is expected to start tonight.

Blues at Newburgh
Tonight's big game in the DUSO is the Poughkeepsie-Newburgh Academy clash in the NFA gym. The contest is fraught with possibilities and will have an important bearing on the eventual DUSO championship picture. Each team has lost only one game—to Kingston.

Some observers think the Goldbacks might suffer an emotional letdown after that stirring—but futile—fourth period against Kingston Tuesday. Poughkeepsie, meanwhile, has rebounded savagely from the Maroon debacle.

In other games of a full slate, Middletown entertains Port Jervis; Fallsburg is at Ellenville and Monticello visits Liberty.

Kingston plays Monticello here next Wednesday.

The $100,000 guarantee to the winner of the 1954 Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park is nearly as much as was distributed during the entire first meeting of 20 days at the seaside track in 1944.

Big Ed, O'Connor Play Saturday At West Point

Two former area scholastic basketball stars will vie against each other when Manhattan College meets Army in basketball Saturday at the West Point field house.

Game time is 4 p. m.
Big Ed Weaver, former KHS All-DUSO star, will be at one of the forwards for the Cadets. Eddie O'Connor, the Jasper giant, is one of the best players ever developed in Newburgh where he played for St. Patrick's High.

The meeting between the teams is the first in 26 years. Army is currently breezing along on a four-game winning streak, having whipped Dartmouth and Pennsylvania in recent outings.

Mikan Hails All-Star Game Greatest Ever

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—George Mikan says the 1954 National Basketball Association all star game was the greatest ever played anywhere.

George ought to know. He was picked as the outstanding basketball player of the last half century in the Associated Press poll. He starred in college ball at De Paul and has been the mainstay of the Minneapolis Lakers, national pro champions, for seven seasons.

Last night Mikan was on the losing team. The East squeezed past the West 98-93 in overtime at Madison Square Garden. Mikan personally extended the game the extra five minutes.

With the East leading 84-82 and the clock showing absolutely no time left Big George shot, missed and drew a foul giving him two free throws.

The automatic buzzer sounded as he stepped to the line, meaning there would be no rebounds. The shots had to be good if the West was to force an overtime.

Mikan bounced the ball half a dozen times, then sent it swishing through the nets twice in a row.

Cousy Gets MVP
Bob Cousy of Boston, whose one hander had given the East the lead with two seconds to play, stole the show in the extra period, scoring 10 points for a game total of 20 and controlling the ball almost constantly with his tremendous dribbling. The display won him the most valuable player award.

Mikan played second fiddle to a Laker teammate, Jim Pollard, in scoring. But his 18 points increased his all-star total for four games to 78 points, 12 more than Ed Macauley of Boston, his nearest rival. Pollard got 23 last night.

The victory was the East's third in four all-star contests. The East lineup included nine of the league's first 11 scorers but with the exception of Cousy's overtime show the victory came more from teamwork than from individual efforts.

Terry Sawchuk 'Saves' Wings

(By The Associated Press)
Center Metro Prystai and goalie Terry Sawchuk are the big reasons why Detroit Red Wings again hold a five point margin atop the National Hockey League today with almost two-third of the season gone.

Prystai's goal early in the third period and Sawchuk's perfect netminding gave the rampaging Wings a 1-0 victory over the runner-up Montreal Canadiens last night.

In the only other game, the Boston Bruins edged the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 to take over undisputed possession of fourth place.

Montreal's defeat was only its second in 23 games at home this year. The Canucks drove 28 shots at Sawchuk but the defending Vezina Trophy winner turned all of them aside as he posted his seventh shutout of the campaign.

The player who made the most errors in the majors during 1953 was Eddie Matthews of the Milwaukee Braves. He committed 30 errors.

Ronnie Brandt Hits 54 Points in Church League

He Got Up to Win

Charlie Norkus, of Bayonne, N. J., starts climbing to his feet after taking a count of nine in the seventh round of his ten-rounder at Miami Beach, Jan. 20, with Danny Nardico. Nardico was knocked down six times and Norkus twice, in what is described as one of Greater Miami's wildest brawls. Norkus finally won in the ninth round when referee Jimmy Peerles stopped the fight.

John Ferraro Hits 668 And Randy Kelder 266; M. Goldstein Shoots 520

Two of Kingston's all-time tenpin greats—Johnny Ferraro and Randy Kelder—dominated last night's Major League action at the Bowldrome.

Fresh on the heels of a 728 slam in the Central Rec Major Wednesday, the veteran Kelder fired a 266 solo last night. Ferraro put together games of 233-210-225 for 668.

Millie Goldstein set a new thirty-frame record in the Sisterhood League with 520 on solos of 169-181 and 170.

Arlene Raible (185) and Reta Frederick 191-140-182 for 513 were tops in the Central Rec Women's circuit.

Majors on Spree
Major leaguers compiled ten series of "600" or better, with Frank "Boots" Leskie only five strikes off Ferraro's pace with 213-214-236 for 663. Leskie had a 680-plus slam in last Saturday's HVBV match between Jones Dairy and Rapp's Express.

Bill Kuehn fired 230-603; Vern Van Dusen 240-190-215-609; Joe Misasi 213-208-202-623; Joe Ruzzo 223-602; Ken Joseph 258-610; Cliff Davis 182-230-202-614. Larry Weishaupt 206-180-236-622; Randy Kelder 266-609.

Unknown Leads Par Busters In San Diego Open

Rancho Santa Fe, Calif. Jan. 22 (AP)—The wreckage that was paraded the Rancho Golf course today as upward of 130 golfers headed into the second round of the $15,000 San Diego Open tournament. An astounding number of 49 players out of 134 starters broke par 72 in the first round, and tournament officials sought to tighten up the course today.

Leading the procession into today's 18 holes was 27-year-old Bill Ogden of Chicago whose 33-33-66 looked none too secure in the face of the par crackers just behind.

The Rancho course measures almost 6,800 yards and has par of 36-36-72. On stroke back of Ogden, a former Sacramento California amateur star until he turned pro four years ago, were U. S. Amateur champion Gene Littler of San Diego and pros Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas, and Bob Harris, San Jose, Calif.

There were six players tied at 68, headed by Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N. J., who won the San Diego event last year.

Rawls Leads Tampa Open

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Betsy Rawls, who finished fast to post the day's best nine hole score yesterday, held a two-stroke lead going into the second day of the 72-hole Tampa Women's Open golf tournament today.

The Spartanburg, S. C., pro came through with 35, three under par, on the home nine to give her a par 75 for the tricky, 6,093-yard Palma Ceia course.

Bunched behind her were Babe Zaharias of Tampa, who has won the tournament twice; Polly Riley, another former winner, from Fort Worth, Tex., and Jackie Pung, Honolulu.

Newark, N. J.—Felix Redondo, 137, Bayonne, outpointed Mel Brown, 141½, Paterson, N. J., 8.

Maines Sports Capture Pennant With 49-47 Win Over SA Cagers

Maines Sport Shop scored a 49-47 squeaker over a fighting Salvation Army squad to capture first place in the regular season of the Recreation Junior basketball league.

The victory assured the Sportsmen of the No. 1 draw in the Shaughnessy playoffs, but the other three spots are still wide open with five teams capable of taking them.

The SA cagers put on a desperate second half rally in an effort to overhaul the front running Maines but fell short by two points at the buzzer. The winners led by five going into the stretch.

Marks Scores 18
Ronnie Marks scored 18 points to pace the Sportsmen, who led 28-19 at the half. John Turk led with 11. High man for the SA was Gene Nagele with 14.

The Preps boosted their chances for a playoff berth by defeating Dawkins Nationals, 45-41, picking up their margin in the fourth quarter.

Lee Kias rimmed 16 points for the winners and Robert Renninger fired 10 for Dawkins. Lee Hertrington had 10.

Led by Frank Reis and Roger Billings, the Spartans scored something of a mild upset by downing Esposito's Cleaners, 46-30.

The Spartans led all the way as Reis unloaded 17 points and Billings scored 16. B. Lucas, with eight, paced Esposito's.

Noel Bonacci sparked the Celtics to a 58-36 conquest of Feeney's, hitting 16 points. Joe Pino and Bill Fitzgerald helped with 11 apiece.

Brennan and Hoffman hit 12 and 10 respectively for Feeney's.

Big Crowd Expected For Schmidt-Gunkel

Advance sale of tickets reported today by Tommy Maines, indicates that a capacity crowd will watch Hans Schmidt and Ray Gunkel in the wrestling feud Saturday night at the municipal auditorium.

The response has been the best since the first meeting between the Sharpe brothers and Wild Bill Melby and Billy Darnell. Other bouts pair Ken Ackerman, of Kingston, and Steve Budnyas and Bobby Nelson vs. Joe Campbell.

Bob Bondar Regains Eligibility Kingston Plays Catskill

6 Foot 2 Player Will Add Power To Backcourt

Figures to Gain Starting Berth

Bob Bondar, a 6 foot 2 guard, who will add height, size and scoring power to Kingston High's backcourt, becomes eligible for competition tonight as the Maroons makes a rare foray out of the DUSO to play at Catskill High.

Ineligible in the first semester because he missed school for a year, Bondar has worked out faithfully with the squad and hasn't missed a practice session since the workouts started in November.

Bondar, who jumps well, is a steady rebounder and has a good jump shot from the four circle. He is eligible only for the remainder of the 1954 season.

Big Ed, O'Connor Play Saturday At West Point

Two former area scholastic basketball stars will vie against each other when Manhattan College meets Army in basketball Saturday at the West Point field house.

Game time is 4 p. m. Big Ed Weaver, former KHS All-DUSO star, will be at one of the forwards for the Cadets. Eddie O'Connor, the Jasper giant, is one of the best players ever developed in Newburgh where he played for St. Patrick's High.

The meeting between the teams is the first in 26 years. Army is currently breezing along on a four-game winning streak, having whipped Dartmouth and Pennsylvania in recent outings.

Mikan Hails All-Star Game Greatest Ever

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—George Mikan says the 1954 National Basketball Association all star game was the greatest ever played anywhere.

George ought to know. He was picked as the outstanding basketball player of the last half century in the Associated Press poll. He starred in college ball at De Paul and has been the mainstay of the Minneapolis Lakers, national pro champions, for seven seasons.

With the East leading 84-82 and the clock showing absolutely no time left Big George shot, missed and drew a foul giving him two free throws.

The automatic buzzer sounded as he stepped to the line, meaning there would be no rebounds. The shot had to be good if the West was to force an overtime.

Mikan bounced the ball half a dozen times, then sent it swishing through the nets twice in a row.

Cousy Gets MVP

Bob Cousy of Boston, whose one hander had given the East the lead with two seconds to play, stole the show in the extra period, scoring 10 points for a game total of 20 and controlling the ball almost constantly with his tremendous dribbling. The display won him the most valuable player award.

Mikan played second fiddle to a Laker teammate, Jim Pollard, in scoring. But his 18 points increased his all-star total for four games to 78 points, 12 more than Ed Macauley of Boston, his nearest rival. Pollard got 23 last night, Macauley 13.

The victory was the East's third in the four all-star contests. The East lineup included nine of the league's first 11 scorers but with the exception of Cousy's overtime show the victory came more from teamwork than from individual efforts.

Terry Sawchuk 'Saves' Wings

(By The Associated Press)

Center Metro Prystai and goalie Terry Sawchuk are the big reasons why Detroit Red Wings again hold a five point margin atop the National Hockey League today with almost two-thirds of the season gone.

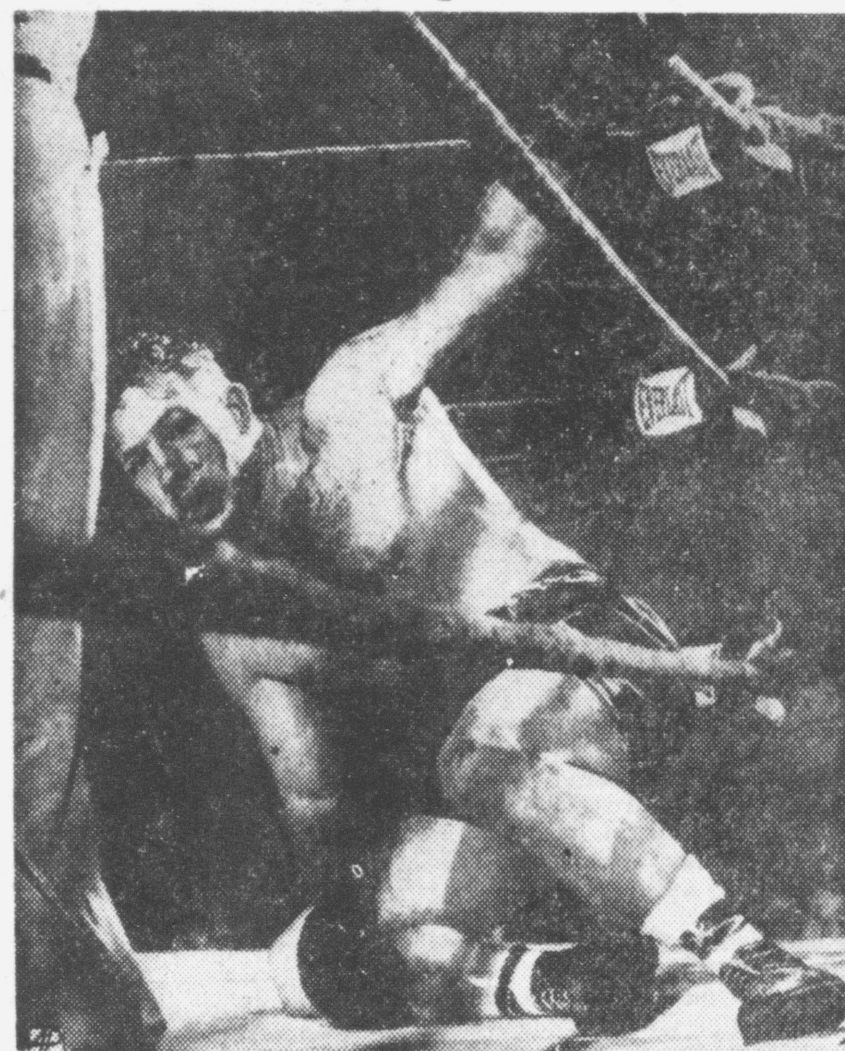

Prystai's goal early in the third period and Sawchuk's perfect netminding gave the rampaging Wings a 1-0 victory over the runner-up Montreal Canadiens last night.

In the only other game, the Boston Bruins edged the Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 to take over undisputed possession of fourth place. Montreal's defeat was only its second in 23 games at home this year. The Canucks drove 28 shots at Sawchuk but the defending Vezina Trophy winner turned all of them aside as he posted his seventh shutout of the campaign.

The player who made the most errors in the majors during 1953 was Eddie Matthews of the Milwaukee Braves. He committed 30 errors.

Ronnie Brandt Hits 54 Points in Church League

He Got Up to Win

Charlie Norkus, of Bayonne, N. J., starts climbing to his feet after taking a knock in the seventh round of his ten-rounder at Miami Beach, Jan. 20, with Danny Nardico. Nardico was knocked down six times and Norkus twice, in what is described as one of Greater Miami's wildest brawls. Norkus finally won in the ninth round when referee Jimmy Peeler stopped the fight.

John Ferraro Hits 668 And Randy Kelder 266; M. Goldstein Shoots 520

Two of Kingston's all-time tenpin greats—Johnny Ferraro and Randy Kelder—dominated last night's Major League action at the Bowldrome.

Fresh on the heels of a 728 slam in the Central Rec Major Wednesday, the veteran Kelder fired a 266 solo last night.

Ferraro put together games of 233-210-225 for 668. Millie Goldstein set a new thirty-frame record in the Sisterhood League with 520 on solos of 169-181 and 170.

Arlene Raible (185) and Reta Frederick 191-140-182 for 513 were tops in the Central Rec Women's circuit.

Majors on Spree
Major leagues compiled ten series of "600" or better, with Frank "Boots" Leskie only five sticks off Ferraro's pace with 213-214-236 for 663. Leskie had a 680-plus slam in last Saturday's HVBL match between Jones Dairy and Rapp's Express.

Maines Sports Capture Pennant With 49-47 Win Over SA Cagers

Maines Sport Shop scored a 49-47 squeaker over a fighting Salvation Army squad to capture first place in the regular season of the Recreation Junior basketball league.

The victory assured the Sportsmen of the No. 1 draw in the Shaughnessy playoffs, but the other three spots are still wide open with five teams capable of taking them.

The SA cagers put on a desperate second half rally in an effort to overhaul the front running Maines but fell short by two points at the buzzer. The winners led by five going into the stretch.

Marks Scores 18

Ronnie Marks scored 18 points to pace the Sportsmen, who led 28-19 at the half. John Turk aided with 11. High man for the SA was Gene Nagele with 14.

The Preps boosted their chances for a playoff berth by defeating Dawkins Nationals, 45-41, picking up their margin in the fourth quarter.

Lee Kias rimmed 16 points for the winners and Robert Renninger fired 10 for Dawkins. Lee Herrington had 10.

Led by Frank Reis and Roger Billings, the Spartans scored something of a mild upset by downing Esposito's Cleaners, 46-30.

The Spartans led all the way as Reis unloaded 17 points and Billings scored 16. B. Lucas, with eight, paced Esposito's.

Noel Bonacci sparked the Celtics to a 38-38 conquest of Feney's, hitting 16 points. Joe Pino and Bill Fitzgerald helped with 11 apiece.

Brennan and Hoffman hit 12 and 10 respectively for Feney's. The boxscores:

Golf Officials War Against Calcutta Evils

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Two of golf's top officials have issued a warning against the appearance of organized gambling in the sport.

"The only thing that can blacken the name of golf is the appearance of organized gambling," Totton P. Heffelfinger of Minneapolis, president of the USGA, told some 400 diners at the annual Metropolitan Golf Writers' dinner last night.

Heffelfinger's words were reiterated by Horton Smith, of Detroit, president of the Professional Golfers' Association.

Both urged that care be taken when Calcutta pools are conducted on tournaments.

"Keep gambling out of golf," said Smith.

Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., and Bobby Jones, 1930 grand slam winner, were honored.

Mrs. Zaharias, who was unable to be present because she is competing in the Tampa Women's Open, was awarded the Ben Hogan trophy for having overcome the greatest physical handicap. Jones was given the Golden Tee "for devotion to the game."

Frick Warns No Changes In Major Fund Until '56

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick insists

there can be no changes in the disputed player pension plan before 1956 when the current $1,100,000 per year contract for World Series radio-TV expires.

"Nobody knows how much we will be able to get on a new contract," Frick said yesterday at a press conference where he distributed a financial report on the seven years of pension plan.

"I have read where people talk of five million dollars," he said. "You must remember we are talking about what baseball will receive. If we were paid that much, a sponsor would have to pay five million more for line charges, time and other expenses. I doubt very much if anybody can pick up a 10-million dollar tab for five or seven years."

"Let's not get over optimistic. I expect to start negotiations in 1955. It could be with a group of advertisers rather than one organization. One thing is certain. If we get more money under our new contract, the pension fund will be restituted to give the players every benefit possible."

The player representatives in September asked changes in the fund to raise monthly payments from $50 to $80 for five-year men and $100 to $150 for 10-year men. They also asked that annuities be paid at 45 instead of 50 with lower player costs. Frick said he had been advised that would cost $9,780,000 additional.

Frick Would Help All
"Personally I would rather see the pension go to some men who were not able to stay as long as five years," Frick said. "Even if it would be only $20 a month, I'll throw that into the hopper when we discuss any new plan."

Frick's report showed a balance of $598,400.02 in the major leagues' central fund from which the pensions and other costs are paid. Total receipts for seven years included $913,352.64 from players and $6,976,247.77 "attributable to clubs." The All-Star game receipts and Series radio-TV cash were counted in the clubs' payments.

That, of course, is the catch. The players claim all the radio-TV money from the Series goes to the pension fund. The majors insist it goes into a central fund that amounts to a joint bank account of the 16 clubs. In addition to pension payments, a share of the costs of the commissioner's office and refunds to clubs for income tax liability on the radio-TV cash come out of the central fund.

Frick claimed such a split was a "definite understanding" by all concerned in 1951.

"The present plan cannot be changed and will not be changed before 1956," said Frick. "I am extremely anxious to have the plan continue with all the benefits to the members that a sound financing program will provide and I am confident the plan can and will be continued on a satisfactory basis if players and clubs approach the matter in the cooperative spirit with which the plan was launched."

Weinmester's Bolt to Canada Hints All-Out Grid War

Philadelphia, Jan. 22 (AP)—United States and Canadian professional football executives primed their check books and mustered their legal forces today in an all-out war over football talent.

The feud over Canadian forays into American football player pools has blown hot and cold for several years. It warmed up considerably a few weeks ago when Canadian officials accused the National Professional Football League in the U. S. of hiring a propagandist to slander the Canadian game.

Yesterday it was announced that Arnie Weinmester of the New York Giants, one of the NFL's all-time top tackles, had signed a two-year contract with the New British Columbia Lions.

The 6-foot-4, 235-pound lineman no longer has a contract with the Giants, but the club holds an option on his services for 1954.

Bell Replies
Commissioner Bert Bell of the NFL promptly declared "the war is on" between the U. S. and Canadian pro leagues.

"They had better start counting their players," Bell declared. "We have a list of all Canadian players, some of whom could make some of our teams. We'll go after them if they go after our boys."

Giants' president John V. Mara threatened legal action for breach of contract against Weinmester. At Seattle Weinmester said he believes he was within his legal rights in signing with Vancouver.

"I did not violate my contract with the Giants," he said. "There was no misunderstanding. They knew 1953 was my last year with them."

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

Unlike the old adage, Warren Smith is the little man who is always there when worthwhile sports promotions are tried in the community.

It was nice to see the business and professional sportsmen of the YMCA give the dynamic wrestler the recognition he has so long deserved.

Few people in the city appreciate the time, energy and money Warren Smith has put into local sports. Having been associated with him for many years, particularly during the run of organized baseball, we're in a position to know that he seldom, if ever, receives any remuneration for his efforts. Warren has been an amateur sportsman in the true sense of the word.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

"Bo" Gill predicted Mickey Burkoski would make a strong comeback in the second half against Kingston and The Marvel did—19 points worth. Our Newburgh colleague is already beating the drums for All-DUSO berths for Burkoski and Harold Kaplan.

The 56-54 score Kingston squeaked over NFA doesn't impress us.

With the ailing Skip Broadhead in full physical gear, Kingston rolled to a 30-18 halftime margin. The Maroon superiority was emphatic, particularly with Burkoski having a rough first half. Assuming that Broadhead is in top physical shape, the edge definitely goes to Kingston at this stage of the season.

Maybe by Feb. 23 when the teams meet in the return game at Newburgh, the revenge might be true. The first string All-DUSO selections will not be an easy matter. But from what we've observed to date, Broadhead, Dick Bezermer and Bill Haber are definitely All-DUSO calibre. Bezermer has been a tremendous player the past three games and did not suffer in comparison with Burkoski Tuesday night. Haber has been a backcourt artist for two years.

Of Men and Mice:

Bill Schwab, once slugged Burleigh Grimes for a double in the clutch of an exhibition game between the original Colonials and St. Louis Cardinals, left the field house and caught the last few minutes of the game on his car radio. "I just couldn't stand the pressure," the ex-sluggo admitted. Fraternal Youth League is reported interested in having its own baseball diamond sealed down to the requirements of that age-type baseball. Little League Association officials shortly expect to announce plans for their second private diamond in the downtown section of the city. Steve Danish of Croseyville, a frequent winner at Arlington Speedway last summer, has been acclaimed 1953 New York state champion in NAS-CAR's sportsmen division. An all-star YMCA League array will be in Woodstock tonight trying to burst the Varsity bubble. William Straub, Saugerties High School coach, came in for some praise from the Phys Ed. bureau of the State Education Department "for the excellent teaching done by your staff under adverse circumstances." Straub, who has been coaching at Saugerties the past three years, is a graduate of Catskill High and Ithaca College. The State also recommended that Saugerties enlarge and bring up to date its physical education facilities to conform to the rest of the state.

National Notes:

Neil Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors is headed for his second straight NBA scoring crown but George Mikan, the old Pro, is still the game's steadiest scorer. As measured by the clock, the Minneapolis Laker veteran has scored at the rate of 25.2 points per 48 minutes, which is the regulation playing time for a professional game. Johnston's comparable average is second at 24.3, with Ray Felix of Baltimore third at 23.9. An inquiry about the Harlem Globe Trotters brought the prompt reply that the fabulous Negro cagers are booked solid through 1954. Kingston has first priority in 1953: Ben Hogan vies against the nation's golfers in National Golf Day on June 5 at the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield, N. J., site of this year's National Open. Easy Ed Macauley tops NBA scorers in shooting percentage with 47.4. Bill Sharman, Boston, leads the free throwers with 85.4. A baseball writer's paradise now has to be the International League, where you jump from Montreal to Havana as casually as Frankie flies to Europe to see Ava.

Since 1947 the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas has been a sellout before the identity of the competing teams was announced.

Luis Firpo was the first Argentinian ever to fight for the world's heavyweight championship.

Fazio Leads All Stars

Chicago, Jan. 22 (AP)—A couple of tournament veterans, Buzz Fazio of Detroit and Mrs. Shirley Garms of Chicago, led the national All-Star bowling tournament today as match play moved into the second day of competition.

Fazio, captain of the Detroit Stroh's, national match game champions, won 13 of the 16 games yesterday and topped 3,351 pins for a total of 80.01 Petersen points, based on games won and pins toppled.

Bill Lillard of Chicago was in second place with 11 wins and 5 losses, a record of 3,391 pins knocked down and 78.41 points.

Mrs. Garms, a 29-year-old secretary, paced the 16-woman field with 38.22 points after the first four rounds. She was closely followed by June Kristof, also of Chicago, who had 37.02. Each, however, won six games and lost two in yesterday's opening matches.

Vince Martinez 12-5 Over Rocky Casillo

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Vince Martinez and Rocky Casillo, two ambitious young welters who hope Kid Gavilan graduates with honors into the middleweight class, try to crack the top 10 ratings tonight.

Their 10-round match at Madison Square Garden will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) starting at 10 p. m. (EST). Martinez is a 12 to 5 favorite.

Free Instructions Saturday

Free bowling instruction classes sponsored by the Kingston Women's Bowling Association and the American Junior Bowling Congress, resume Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the Central Recs. Adults and youngsters are invited. Dot Rawding, certified AJBC instructor, will be in charge.

Rapps Finish First Half With Five Straight

Rapp's Juniors continued to dominate play in the Midget division of the Recreation Basketball League last night with a 39-20 victory over the National Juniors.

Weinmester's Bolt to Canada Hints All-Out Grid War

Philadelphia, Jan. 22 (AP)—United States and Canadian professional football executives primed their check books and mustered their legal forces today in an all-out war over football talent.

The feud over Canadian forays into American football player pools has blown hot and cold for several years. It warmed up considerably a few weeks ago when Canadian officials accused the National Professional Football League in the U. S. of hiring a propagandist to slander the Canadian game.

Yesterday it was announced that Arnie Weinmester of the New York Giants, one of the NFL's all-time top tackles, had signed a two-year contract with the New British Columbia Lions.

The 6-foot-4, 235-pound lineman no longer has a contract with the Giants, but the club holds an option on his services for 1954.

Bell Replies
Commissioner Bert Bell of the NFL promptly declared "the war is on" between the U. S. and Canadian pro leagues.

"They had better start counting their players," Bell declared. "We have a list of all Canadian players, some of whom could make some of our teams. We'll go after them if they go after our boys."

Giants' president John V. Mara threatened legal action for breach of contract against Weinmester. At Seattle Weinmester said he believes he was within his legal rights in signing with Vancouver. "I did not violate my contract with the Giants," he said. "There was no misunderstanding. They knew 1953 was my last year with them."

Saturday's Schedule
Middletown at Joneses

Elstons at Toohy's

Elstons Sport and Schryver Lumber hold the spotlight in Saturday's Hudson Valley League tennis action.

While the Lumberjacks entertain the powerful Ellenville Shanahans at the Central Recs (8 p. m.), the Sportsmen invade Newburgh to battle the first place Toohy's.

Jones Dairy, a half game off the pace, entertain Middletown Joes at the Bowldrome (9 p. m.) in what could be a high-scoring duel, while Rapp's Express travels to Ellenville Fink's.

Toohy's (46-11) have a half game margin over Joneses in the loss column but the next meeting between the contenders will be at the Bowldrome.

Ferraro Leads at 206

Johnny Ferraro retains the individual leadership with a 206.54 average for 57 sets. Phil Versace, with three games less, is hitting .205.13. Larry Weishaupt, Dick Howard and Harold Broskie of Jones Dairy are also in the top ten.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

Unlike the old adage, Warren Smith is the little man who is always there when worthwhile sports promotions are tried in the community.

It was nice to see the business and professional sportsmen of the YMCA give the dynamic ex-wrestler the recognition he has so long deserved.

Few people in the city appreciate the time, energy and money Warren Smith has put into local sports. Having been associated with him for many years, particularly during the run of organized baseball, we're in a position to know that he seldom, if ever, receives any remuneration for his efforts. Warren has been an amateur sportsman in the true sense of the word.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

"Bo" Gill predicted Mickey Burkoski would make a strong comeback in the second half against Kingston and The Marvel did—19 points worth. Our Newburgh colleague is already beating the drums for All-DUSO berths for Burkoski and Harold Kaplan. The 36-54 score Kingston squeaked over NFA doesn't impress us. With the ailing Skip Brodhead in full physical gear, Kingston rolled to a 30-19 halftime margin. The Maroon superiority was emphatic, particularly with Burkoski having a rough first half. Assuming that Brodhead is in top physical shape, the edge definitely goes to Kingston at this stage of the season. Maybe by Feb. 23 when the teams meet in the return game at Newburgh, the revenge might be true. The first string All-DUSO selections will not be an easy matter. But from what we've observed to date, Brodhead, Dick Bezemer and Bill Haber are definitely All-DUSO calibre. Bezemer has been a tremendous player the past three games and did not suffer in comparison with Burkoski Tuesday night. Haber has been a backcourt artist for two years.

• Of Men and Mice:

Bill Schwab, who once slugged Burleigh Grimes for a double in the clutch of an exhibition game between the original Colonials and St. Louis Cardinals, left the field house and caught the last few minutes of the game on his car radio. "I just couldn't stand the pressure," the slugger admitted. Fraternity Youth League is reported interested in having its own baseball diamond scaled down to the requirements of that age-type baseball. Little League Association officials shortly expect to announce plans for their second private diamond in the downtown section of the city. Steve Danish of Croseyville, a frequent winner at Arlington Speedway last summer, has been acclaimed 1953 New York state champion in NAS-CAR's sportsmen division. An all-star YMCA League array will be in Woodstock tonight trying to burst the Varsity bubble. William Straub, Saugerties High School coach, came in for some praise from the Phys. Ed. bureau of the State Education Department "for the excellent teaching done by your staff under adverse circumstances." Straub, who has been coaching at Saugerties the past three years, is a graduate of Cortland High and Thales College. The State also recommended that Saugerties enlarge and bring up to date its physical education facilities to conform to the rest of the state.

• National Notes:

Neil Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors is headed for his second straight NBA scoring crown but George Mikan, the Old Pro, is still the game's steadiest scorer. Howard Hughes' Story

(Howard Hughes has two loves—airplanes and women. This fifth chapter of the Hughes story describes his romantic conquests—a bevy of young beauties no movie Casanova can approach.)

By JAMES BACON

Hollywood, Jan. 22 (AP)—A long list of luscious lovelies can testify to Howard Hughes, rating as Hollywood's greatest off-screen Romeo.

If he ever published the story of his romances, not even Errol Flynn would qualify to write the foreword. Certainly no man, boy producer or Vine street wolf ever dated so many beautiful women and kept his bachelorhood.

The list of his Julietts runs from Billie Dove in the silent flickers to Debra Paget in CinemaScope. It includes Ginger Rogers, Yvonne De Carlo, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Cyd Charisse, Terry Moore, Mona Freeman, Jean Peters, Faith Domergue, Mitzzy Gaynor, Joan Fontaine, Katharine Hepburn and scores more. Some were starlets, others established stars. Some were chorus girls, models, checkroom cuties.

Leaves Them at 17

All fit a familiar pattern: When Hughes dated them they were young, beautiful and usually unsophisticated.

"When they start looking older than 17," says one ex-flame, Howard starts losing interest."

Hughes argues—and with some beautiful arguments—that his taste is not exclusively for unsophisticated women.

"You can't call Ginger Rogers, Katharine Hepburn, Lana Turner, Joan Fontaine or Ava Gardner unsophisticated," he maintains.

He has kept six or seven happy lovelies on the string at the same time. With few exceptions each has been certain that she was the one—and only one—who would get him to the altar.

Hughes was married once, in 1925 to socialite Ella Rice of Houston. But he was divorced, and some friends say disillusioned—in 1929.

Since then, it's been practically a parade. A favorite story involves Lana Turner. When Hughes told her marriage was out, she is reported to have pouted: "But Howie, I have our silk sheets monogrammed H."

Hughes supposed reply shows either a great sense of humor or unusual thrift:

"Why don't you marry Huntington Hartford?"

Yvonne De Carlo, still a bachelor girl, once placed five dollar bets around the Universal-International lot that she would snare Hughes.

Admits Her Love

He was the one great love of her life, she still admits candidly. Jean Peters, quiet and beautiful, has been the most loyal of all Hughes' girl friends. She knows about the others but apparently doesn't care. Hughes is the only romance in the Hollywood life of the onetime Ohio State co-ed.

Many think Terry Moore is now No. 1 in Hughes' affections. He even taught her to fly. But he is just one of many Moore boyfriends.

She's got Howard chasing her simply because she just tells him off whenever she feels like it," reports one informant.

During her recent trek to Korea, Hughes kept trans-Pacific phones buzzing. The night before she left, it happened to be at Terry's house. In the space of an hour, a person she said was Hughes called her four times from Las Vegas.

On the last call, she broke off with: "Sorry, Howard, I hear my date at the front door now."

A young, handsome collegian came in and Terry introduced us. He was Bob Kenaston, son of Billie Dove, and old Hughes flame.

How He Does It

What is Hughes' attraction to women—other than those millions?

One glamor girl, who can have her pick of millionaires, indicated that he appeals to the maternal instinct—one of the most ancient and surest of all.

"Howard," she confides, "is a lonely man. He's shy, boyish and carries all the problems of those giant corporations around with him. It makes me happy to know that I can console him and make him forget his troubles."

That one is still in the running. Let's listen to a jilted one:

"Howard is obsessed with power. Sure, he's got a movie studio but he's unhappy because it's not the biggest one. He won't be happy until he owns MGM. That's why he's not satisfied with one movie star—he's got to have six or seven at a time."

Debra Paget gained some fame around Hollywood as its unkissed starlet. Her hefty mother, a show business veteran who blocked the local wolves like a Notre Dame guard, was always at her side. Then mama and Debbie went to Las Vegas. Debbie came back with a diamond ring that looked like a flashlight bulb. Recently she sported a new mink.

Now Howard's the Guy

She also confided that she now has been kissed for the first time and that Howard is the guy in her life.

Miss Paget, like Miss Moore, is the typical teen-ager type. Let's hear from another veteran star, a member of the Hughes Alumnae Association:

"Howard suffers from a terrific inferiority complex about women. That's the main reason he likes young, unsophisticated girls. Mature women of the world scare him to death."

Chorus girls who have dated Howard sum up his appeal this way:

"He dazzles you with gifts."

Hughes maintains legal residence in Nevada. Some say he lives there because he can save thousands of dollars yearly in California state income taxes. Another reason is given by an associate:

"Howard likes Las Vegas because he is nocturnal in his habits and Las Vegas never sleeps. When he wanders around at 4 a. m., he likes to be able to find a restaurant open in case he wants a sandwich."

He wanders in and out of the Las Vegas nightspots at all hours of the night. High-salaried executives seldom can get near him, but he stops and chats with bell-boys and bartenders, most of whom call him "Howie." He never drinks or gambles, although surrounded by both.

He's most approachable in the early hours. In person, he is courteous and charming. He looks 10 years younger than his 48 years although night living has given him a chalky, night club tan.

Has Gentle Side Too

Though sometimes called ruthless in business deals, he has a gentle side. Once his car hit a mongrel dog. He sped it to a veterinarian and spared no expense or worry until it was taken care of. But he keeps his good deeds even more secret than his private life.

Reporters and photographers covering a desert train wreck, crashed in a small plane. Hughes flew their wives to Las Vegas, picked up all tabs at the hotel, so they could be near their husbands in the hospital.

In 1949, when little Kathy Fiscus fell down a well and stopped her heartbeats of a world for a week, Hughes put the entire resources of Hughes Tool on the rescue effort. Drilling rigs and experienced workmen were rushed to the scene.

One executive often called out of bed in the middle of the night for conferences, fairly well sums it all up:

"I don't know whether Howard is a genius or crazy. Maybe he's a little of both. I know I sometimes feel like blowing my top when I hear that phone ring at 4 a. m. But then he's always so damned polite and apologetic for waking me up, that I forget about it."

Korean POWs Are

the start of the Korean war 3½ years ago.

Allied insistence that no prisoners be forced to go home against their will was a major stumbling block in the prolonged armistice talks.

The pro-Red American, British and South Korean POWs staged a sitdown strike in their compound. The purpose was to back the Communist position that they should be held until their fate is decided by a Korean peace conference. But it was considered likely that when their food runs out they will march north—and vanish behind the Iron Curtain.

Final Appeal Made

The Indian command made a final appeal Friday for the Reds to accept the pro-Communist prisoners, but it was rejected.

Instead, the Reds warned Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya it would consider the Indians responsible for seeing that there is no "abduction and dispersion" of the pro-Reds.

The Indian commander then met with leaders of the pro-Red compound, U. S. Sgt. Richard G. Corden of East Providence, R. I., British Marine Andrew Condon and three leaders of the South Korean POWs.

"He gave them his position," an Indian spokesman said, "namely, that by midnight we shall withdraw our guards, withdraw our custody and shall have nothing to do with them."

Realtors Hear Details of Thruway

Officers and guests attending the dinner of the Ulster County Real Estate Board, Thursday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel were (seated left) Albert R. Erskine, consulting engineer of the Thruway Authority; Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the board; Frank Mazzetti, president of the New York Association of Real Estate Boards; (standing) Clarence J. Smith, assistant to Engineer Erskine on the thruway; Arthur J. Burns, treasurer of the Ulster county board; Fred C. Dircks, vice president of the county association and Harry H. Coyle, regional vice president. (Freeman photos)

Realty Board Told

the city of Kingston would be hard to forecast, he stated, pointing out that the population in Poughkeepsie had hardly increased during the past 20 years but that the town in which Poughkeepsie is located had grown immensely, with the city prospering substantially as the result.

When the 535-mile "Main street of New York state" will be completed cannot be told, Erskine said, pointing out, however, that most contracts in District 8, which runs from the New York line to the southern border of Ulster county, were on schedule.

A total of 107.3 miles of the thruway had been completed at a cost of $68,000,000 with 55 miles open to the public, Erskine said. A total of 425 miles of the super-highway has been advertised or is now under construction at a cost of $455,000,000. He explained that simply acquiring the property and setting utilities underground, before actual construction even got under way, was a heavy cost—five million dollars in District 8 alone. He pointed out that:

The thruway would carry much of the state's truck traffic, approximately 60 per cent of such traffic having its origin within 60 miles of the route.

The highway had been designed for speeds of 70 MPH, except in restricted areas, but no "ultimate speed limit" had been set.

Tolls Not Settled

The question of tolls had not yet been settled. The interchange at Malden would probably be discontinued and an improved road was needed to carry truck traffic from Malden to the Saugerties interchange.

The interchange at the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge would be met when the bridge was built.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, new president of the Ulster County Real Estate Board, presided.

His review of board accomplishments during the past year included: The expediting of loans to veterans, worked out in cooperation with the Veterans Administration; revising and adapting a new set of by-laws; largest membership in its 35-year history; largest attendance at the regional meeting held at Bear Mountain.

Expresses Appreciation

He expressed appreciation to members of the board and asked their continued support during 1954. Among those introduced by President MacAvery were Mayor Frederick H. Stang; Frank Mazzetti, president of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards; Pratt Boice, president of a Ulster County Savings Institution; E. Frank Flanagan, president of the Kingston Savings and Loan; Holt Winfield, president of the Kingston Savings Bank; John Fisher, executive vice-president of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards; Clarence J. Smith, State Department of Public Works; Harry M. Coyle, regional vice-president for the lower Hudson district; Robert Canavan, chairman of arrangements; Frederick Dircks of Woodstock, newly elected vice president of the local board; Edward C. O'Connor, newly elected secretary, and A. J. Burns, newly elected treasurer, who also served as chairman of the speakers committee for the banquet.

Subject to Controls

Mazzetti spoke briefly, pointing out that during the past 20 years real estate had been subject to strict controls. "We feel that the American public should be protected but there is no more crisis and it's about time controls were lifted."

He asked the membership to vote "No" on the Dewey sponsored $200,000,000 low cost housing bill if it was submitted to the people in the form of a referendum.

The New York State Association of Real Estate Boards is the second largest in the country, Mazzetti stated. Last year, he said, the association's appraisal conference was the largest ever held in the United States with 1,100 attending.

He explained that it was the desire of the association to work in close cooperation and harmony with the city of Kingston, a city full of history and tradition, beautiful old homes and historic landmarks in one of the most beautiful natural settings in the country.

Of real estate brokers he said they were rapidly becoming a profession and that 37 universities in this country now offered real estate courses. He said that he foresaw a time when the broker would occupy a status similar to that of the doctor and lawyer.

No Arterial Discussion

When questioned about the state-proposed arterial spur for the city of Kingston, Erskine said he had not participated in its planning and was, therefore, not able to discuss it.

Mayor Stang said the State Department of Public Works had made an impartial and objective study of the local situation in making its spur proposal.

He explained that approval of the plan by the city in principle would not obligate the city to accept all of its details. General approval at this time would place 5.2 miles of Kingston streets on the state highway map and would make it possible to introduce legislation in this session to amend the highway law and provide for construction. Then the detailed plans would be submitted by the state for approval piecemeal from time to time.

Public hearings would be held on each detail proposed, the mayor stated.

"We want to ascertain the majority will of the people of the city," he said, asking for "serious thought on the matter."

"We are standing on the threshold of great things," Stang said. "Five, 10, 15 years from now it may be too late..."

Civil Action May Bigger Year

appeared a crime had been committed. Justice Elsworth reserved decision on the request.

Gets Judgment

In March 1952 Hallenbeck agreed to sell a team of horses to Broas who is in the horse and cattle business. A team was sold for $225 and delivered to Broas. He has never paid for it. Hallenbeck sued to recover the $225 with interest and a judgment was directed in that action for $263. There was no defense.

As a second cause of action Hallenbeck charged Broas came to his farm on April 11, 1951, while he was away and took a second team of horses which had been purchased shortly before for $350. He testified he never had sold that team and had never spoke to Broas about a sale. The team was taken from the barn while Hallenbeck was in Willow at work. A son, Edward Hallenbeck, testified Broas drove up with a truck one morning, went to the barn and loaded the team and drove away. He said he arrived at the house just as Broas was starting away with the horses.

Gets $410 Verdict

Later Lewis Hallenbeck sought a warrant but the civil action was started to recover for the value of that team as well as the one sold in March.

Justice Elsworth directed a verdict in the second cause of action for $350 plus $60 interest.

Edward Hallenbeck said he knew of no deal to sell the horses which Broas took while his father was absent.

Bid Made for Law

those units had tried to achieve reconciliations.

The proposed amendment would make unquestionable the Legislature's authority to require submission of marital disputes to the conciliation division.

It was felt the measures were offered as an alternative to efforts by some social agencies and bar associations to ease the state's divorce and annulment laws. Adultery now is the only ground for divorce in New York state.

In the conciliation bill, Mahoney and Wilson said their goal was to protect "the interests of the state in the preservation of the marriage bond by counseling married persons in the solution of problems which might otherwise lead to an action for divorce or annulment."

The Legislature has consistently killed measures to ease the state's adultery-only divorce law.

Howard Hughes' Story

(Howard Hughes has two loves—airplanes and women. This fifth chapter of the Hughes story describes his romantic conquests—a bevy of young beauties no movie Casanova can approach.)

By JAMES BACON

Hollywood, Jan. 22 (AP)—A long list of luscious lovelies can testify to Howard Hughes, rating as Hollywood's greatest off-screen Romeo.

If he ever published the story of his romances, not even Errol Flynn would qualify to write the foreword. Certainly no man, boy producer or Vine street wolf ever dated so many beautiful women and kept his bachelorhood.

The list of his Julietts runs from Billie Dove in the silent flickers to Debra Paget in CinemaScope. It includes Ginger Rogers, Yvonne De Carlo, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Cyd Charisse, Terry Moore, Mona Freeman, Jean Peters, Faith Domergue, Mitzi Gaynor, Joan Fontaine, Katharine Hepburn and scores more. Some were starlets, others established stars. Some were chorus girls, models, checkroom cuties.

Leaves Them at 17

All fit a familiar pattern: When Hughes dated them they were young, beautiful and usually unsophisticated.

"When they start looking older than 17," says one "insider," Hughes starts losing interest. Hughes argues—and with some beautiful arguments—that his taste is not exclusively for unsophisticated women.

Hughes' supposed reply shows either a great sense of humor or unusual thrift.

Robe Draws 2,000

Are Better Than Ever," holds fast to the policy that theatre-goers will turn out for leading attractions, despite the various competitive mediums of entertainment crowding the field today.

Thursday's opening of The Robe was very encouraging, Reade said, and the way people flocked to The Broadway Theatre means that Kingston will continue to get top films.

Although Reade made the attendance comparison between The Greatest Show on Earth and The Robe, he stressed that other leading films brought here while they were headline shows in New York and other large cities of the nation filled his local theatres.

The theatre chain owner said patronage at The Robe and other films presented here has been as encouraging to his local managers as to himself.

"When we get record turnouts," Reade said, "it influences us to book the best attractions available, because we know the movie-going public places confidence in our selections."

No Glasses Needed

The Robe was 10 years in production by CinemaScope, with color by Technicolor, and no glasses are used by the audience, because of the Anamorphic Lens process on the newly created, curved dimensional Miracle Mirror screen.

Co-starring Richard Burton and Jean Simmons, The Robe tells the story of what happened to the garment Christ wore at the Crucifixion, and what effect it had on the lives of Marcellus, played by Burton, the Roman soldier who won it gambling at the foot of the Cross; Demetrius, his Greek slave and a secret believer played by Victor Mature; and Diana, beloved of Marcellus but the ward of the pagan Roman Emperor.

Among the unforgettable scenes of historical pageantry are the slave market where Marcellus first acquires Demetrius; the hill of Calvary where the Crucifixion takes place; a luxurious Roman bath and swimming pool; and a thundering duel with swords between a converted Marcellus and a heathen guardsman. Photographed in the new CinemaScope process and in color by Technicolor, these are reportedly overwhelming examples of new achievements within the power of the medium.

Bills in Legislature

BY HARVEY W. TRAVIS

Albany, Jan. 22 (AP)—Fake music teachers would be screened out of business under legislation proposed by a Republican senator.

Carlo A. Lanzillotti of Queens yesterday introduced a bill to create a state board of music teachers which he said would "protect the public from phony unqualified self-styled professors who have been mulcting parents of children and even adults."

The board would license, for a $10 fee, applicants of good moral character and professional music ability.

Pay boosts for virtually all state employees were proposed by the Democratic minority leaders. The increases asked in six bills introduced by Sen. Francis J. Mahoney and Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan would go to civil service workers and legislative and judicial employees.

For civil service workers, a measure would freeze temporary cost-of-living pay boosts into base salaries and grant a 6 per cent raise April 1.

Would Get Increase
Employees of the legislature and judiciary also would get a 6 per cent increase, along with an emergency pay raise. The emergency boost would be on a graduated scale—12½ per cent on the first $2,000, 10 per cent on the next $2,000 and 7 per cent on the next $4,000. The total could not amount to more than $1,000 and salaries over $17,500 would not be affected.

The Civil Service Employees Assn., which claims that state salaries are 12 per cent below private wage levels, is talking increases with Budget Director T. Norman Hurd. No agreement has been announced.

A permanent center to treat "hard to handle" youths—a project urged by Gov. Dewey—would be established under a bill submitted by Sen. Joseph A. Periconi of the Bronx and Assemblywoman Maude Ten Eyck of Manhattan, both Republicans.

Center Is Operating
An experimental center has been operated at New Hampton, Orange county, since 1947 and 200 graduates have "gone straight," the sponsors said.

In his annual message, the governor said the program had shown "spectacular results."

Liberalized state income tax deductions for working mothers, the blind and persons over 65 were urged in two measures offered by Assemblyman John R. Brook and Sen. MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republicans.

The first would permit working mothers to deduct up to $500 for the care of children under 16 if the parents' combined income does not exceed $6,000.

The second would allow deductions for medical expenses not covered by insurance for husbands and wives if over 65 or blind. The maximum deduction would be $2,500 on a joint return. A single taxpayer would be allowed $1,250.

Four Bands Named For Polio Benefit Monday, Jan. 25th

Four popular area orchestras and their vocalists were announced today to participate in the annual Parade of Bands Show Monday night, Jan. 25, in the studios of WKNY for the benefit of the 1954 March of Dimes in Ulster county.

Mike Marchuck, secretary of Local 215, Musicians Union, identified the musical groups as follows:

Ole Christensen and his orchestra plus vocals by Floyd Crantek. James Sweeney and orchestra, songs by Pat Warner.

Wendell "Speed" Scherer and orchestra and songs by Bill Livingston.

Johnny Knapp and his orchestra with Ruth Murray as vocalist.

Marchuck, who will assist in the program along with Dick McCarthy, local sportscaster, said additional acts will be announced.

This year's Parade of Bands show will be held in the studios of the local station on Jan. 25 starting at 8:30 p. m. As in past years, calls may be made to the studio for requests with pledges for the polio fund to be made at the same time.

Programs Net $335

It also was announced today that in the three daily broadcasts to date over WKNY the dimes fund is $335 richer. The daily programs for the polio fund are heard at 2:30 p. m. when requests and pledges for songs are made. Fred Brown will appear today at 2:30 and the Joey Vigna Trio Saturday afternoon. Calls for requests may be made to 7517.

The final days for these daily broadcasts will be Monday, Jan. 25.

The board would license, for a $10 fee, applicants of good moral character and professional music ability.

Pay boosts for virtually all state employees were proposed by the Democratic minority leaders. The increases asked in six bills introduced by Sen. Francis J. Mahoney and Assemblyman Eugene F. Bannigan would go to civil service workers and legislative and judicial employees.

For civil service workers, a measure would freeze temporary cost-of-living pay boosts into base salaries and grant a 6 per cent raise April 1.

Would Get Increase
Employees of the legislature and judiciary also would get a 6 per cent increase, along with an emergency pay raise. The emergency boost would be on a graduated scale—12½ per cent on the first $2,000, 10 per cent on the next $2,000 and 7 per cent on the next $4,000. The total could not amount to more than $1,000 and salaries over $17,500 would not be affected.

The Civil Service Employees Assn., which claims that state salaries are 12 per cent below private wage levels, is talking increases with Budget Director T. Norman Hurd. No agreement has been announced.

A permanent center to treat "hard to handle" youths—a project urged by Gov. Dewey—would be established under a bill submitted by Sen. Joseph A. Periconi of the Bronx and Assemblywoman Maude Ten Eyck of Manhattan, both Republicans.

Center Is Operating
An experimental center has been operated at New Hampton, Orange county, since 1947 and 200 graduates have "gone straight," the sponsors said.

In his annual message, the governor said the program had shown "spectacular results."

Liberalized state income tax deductions for working mothers, the blind and persons over 65 were urged in two measures offered by Assemblyman John R. Brook and Sen. MacNeil Mitchell, Manhattan Republicans.

The first would permit working mothers to deduct up to $500 for the care of children under 16 if the parents' combined income does not exceed $6,000.

The second would allow deductions for medical expenses not covered by insurance for husbands and wives if over 65 or blind. The maximum deduction would be $2,500 on a joint return. A single taxpayer would be allowed $1,250.

Four popular area orchestras and their vocalists were announced today to participate in the annual Parade of Bands Show Monday night, Jan. 25, in the studios of WKNY for the benefit of the 1954 March of Dimes in Ulster county.

Mike Marchuck, secretary of Local 215, Musicians Union, identified the musical groups as follows:

Ole Christensen and his orchestra plus vocals by Floyd Crantek. James Sweeney and orchestra, songs by Pat Warner.

Wendell "Speed" Scherer and orchestra and songs by Bill Livingston.

Johnny Knapp and his orchestra with Ruth Murray as vocalist.

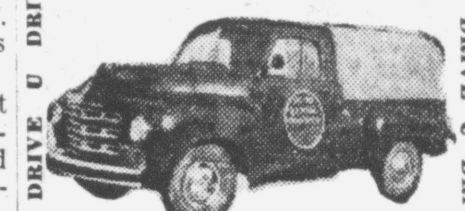

Marchuck, who will assist in the program along with Dick McCarthy, local sportscaster, said additional acts will be announced.

This year's Parade of Bands show will be held in the studios of the local station on Jan. 25 starting at 8:30 p. m. As in past years, calls may be made to the studio for requests with pledges for the polio fund to be made at the same time.

Programs Net $335
It also was announced today that in the three daily broadcasts to date over WKNY the dime fund is $335 richer. The daily programs for the polio fund are heard at 2:30 p. m. when requests and pledges for songs are made. Fred Brown will appear today at 2:30 and the Joey Vigna Trio Saturday afternoon. Calls for requests may be made to 7517.

The final days for these daily broadcasts will be Monday, Jan. 25.
